Chicago Discovers Chinese Ring That Extends to This City

Local and Federal Net Will Be Drawn on Chinatown

AN "Underground Railway," stretching its ramifications from Oakland to the east, up and down the coast, and to Hong Kong, was discovered today through the work of Chicago detectives working on a Chinese murder case, and information wired here this morning has sent Federal immigration inspectors hurrying to this city. The government officials have thrown a dragnet about Oakland and the bay region as a result of the discovery. The "railway," similar to the historic organization which before the Civil War aided slaves to escape from the South, has, it is declared, aided many Chinese criminals to escape from this country to China, and has also brought many Chinese into the United States.

The "Railway" is declared to have [illegible] where the Chinese are put onto launches or landed from ships, and it extends to the East, to Mexico and British Columbia and to Hongkong.

HIGH OFFICIALS HERE.

Several of the high officials of the remarkably organized "underground" are said to be hidden in the mazes of Oakland's Chinatown, and Federal officials are here investigating.

The matter was first discovered by detectives probing the murder of Charles Sing, a Chinese merchant, and its ramifications were traced to Hong Kong, British Columbia and Mexico. The active points are ports of entry along this coast. Oakland and the east bay shore, it is said, has been the means of ingress to many contraband Chinese, and it is declared also that several criminals have secretly made their escape from this city.

Chicago detectives working on the murder case discovered one of the branches of the system, found to be in the rear of a chop suey restaurant. Here the 'Black Book" of the system was unearthed and informa-

Vivian Lyons Must Leave R. J. Widney

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Never again can Vivian Lyons and Robert J. Widney live together in San Francisco while the latter remains in the bans of wedlock with his present wife, who lives in Los Angeles. This decision was arrived at today by District Attorney Fickert.

"I will not permit this couple to live here together again," he asserted. "If they do I will arrest and prosecute them to the limit of the law. No longer will they be allowed to fly in the face of the conventionalities of San Francisco. They not only cause trouble to others, but are always in hot water themselves. They may live here separately if they desire, but they cannot live together. Widney is in the Livermore sanitarium, but he is not under my jurisdiction."

Dynamiters Murder Aged San Diego Man

SAN DIEGO, Sept. 6.—Peter Han[illegible] skirts of the city, was killed by a dynamite outrage which wrecked his home at 3:10 this morning. Early reports are that the dynamite was placed on a sill in the house foundation at a place supposed to be directly under Mansen's bed. Hansen was the only occupant of the house last night, so far as is known at the present time. He had one son who is said to be employed by the city water department.

CHILDREN TYSON'S, CLAIM

Sisters of Alleged Insane Woman Demand Investigation

Former Wife of Pilot Is Committed to State Institution

Sisters of Mrs. Minnie Dahl Gilmore Tyson, who were forced to appear before Superior Judge Harris this morning and tell what they knew regarding Mrs. Tyson's alleged incompetency, nearly disrupted the proceedings with assertions that the three children of the Tysons, declared in the divorce decree to have been foundlings, were really the offspring of the couple. They demanded a grand jury investigation, and District Attorney Hynes was summoned into the courtroom and asked to give them a hearing on their allegations.

Mrs. H. H. Lynch, 1150 Haight street, San Francisco; Mrs. W. H. Seaton, 531 Clayton street, San Francisco, and Mrs. Mattie Brooks, also of San Francisco, were the sisters subpoenaed for the examination into Mrs. Tyson's alleged insanity. The hearing resulted in Mrs. Tyson being committed to the Agnew asylum over the tardy offers of her relatives to have her sent to a private institution.

"Your interest in this matter is most remarkable," said Judge Harris to Mrs. Seaton, who had entered into a tirade over the proceedings. Mrs. E. Summons, of 1146 Haight street, and Mrs. Alice McFarland, landlady of Mrs. Tyson, at 512½ Thirteenth street, were other witnesses.

WOMAN GIVES EVIDENCE.

A woman who entered the courtroom at the close of the hearing said that she had been a friend of Mrs. Tyson a few years ago and had heard of her trouble. She volunteered testimony and appeared to be the only one outside of the Court to have any feeling of sympathy for the defendant.

Mrs. Tyson was taken into court on an affidavit of insanity sworn to by J. W. Greenlee, a police officer, who prevented her from rushing into the estuary at the foot of Broadway last Thursday morning. Since then she

WELCOME TO NATIVE SONS

Visiting Delegates Will See Visions of Splendor Tonight

Illuminations Finest Ever Attempted by Organization

WORDS OF THANKS IN APPRECIATION

(By GRAND MARSHALL HARRY G. WILLIAMS.)

A few days more, and the greatest of Admission Day celebrations will have passed into history. Probably two hundred thousand visitors will have seen "My City, Oakland," at her best, and will be glad to admit that this is indeed "some town."

And all this has required an immense amount of hard work on the part of the many committees. As an officer of the Grand Parlor and Grand Marshal of the parade, I have had ample opportunity to see the unselfish efforts put forth for several weeks past by those upon whom has devolved the duty of preparing to receive and entertain the hosts of visitors from all parts of our state.

The subscription list gives ample proof of the generosity of our citizens; the liberal decorations demonstrate their enthusiasm, and the big glad-hand that will be apparent everywhere during the celebration will certainly prove Oakland's far-famed hospitality.

I wish to take this opportunity to thank all those unselfish co-workers, whose work will be so greatly appreciated. All have labored toward one common end, and success has crowned their efforts. All have worked for the single purpose of demonstrating to the entire west that the practical, progressive principles of our Order are the leading constructive force in the development of the Golden State, and they have succeeded.

After preparations surpassing all others ever attempted in the Golden State of the Golden West, the committee members of the Alameda county parlors of the Native Sons of the Golden West are today welcoming the incoming visitors from all sections of California and making them at home in one of the greatest celebrations the order has ever attended.

The four days' festivities began this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Hotel Oakland when the first delegations that arrived from the north and south were welcomed and the "glad hand" of Oakland was broadly extended to the sons and daughters of our state as they swarmed into the city for participation in the events that have been scheduled for the 1913 Admission day celebration.

UNSURPASSED WELCOME.

Never before in the history of the order has such a welcome been extended. From the length and breadth of Alameda county came the welcomers and this afternoon the streets are becoming thronged with the hundreds of visitors who have been assured of the hospitality of our city and county and have come to receive individually and collectively of the spirit of the occasion.

The city will be brilliantly illuminated this evening, Sunday, Monday

THIRTEENTH AUTO DEATH IN S. F.

Mrs. G. Dooley of Vallejo Struck and Killed

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Thirteen deaths due to automobile accidents is the toll for eight months of 1913 in San Francisco. The thirteenth occurred at an early hour this morning when Mrs. Gale Dooley of Vallejo was run down on the great highway. A half dozen detectives, with several clews to work upon, are now scouring the city for the machine which caused the death of Mrs. Dooley and the serious, if not fatal, injury of her brother, Louis J. Ward, a stenographer with the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, who lives at the Hotel Winton, 445 O'Farrell street.

Ward lies at the Central Emergency hospital suffering from internal injuries, the exact nature of which have not been revealed. He has been resting easily, but the physicians fear that his hurts are such that he cannot recover. He is being watched with great care in order that expected unfavorable symptoms may be immediately combated.

The accident on the highway occurred about 1:30. A. M. Ward was escorting his sister to the Geary-street car after spending a portion of the evening at the Cliff House. The machine struck the couple from behind, dragged them a considerable distance, and went on its way. Either the windshield was smashed, or if it was a taxi, some of the windows were broken, as glass was spilled on the roadway.

When Policeman Bardelben of the Richmond station discovered the pair, Ward was clasping his sister in his arms. He did not recover consciousness until a half hour later at the Park hospital and was not told that she was dead. Mrs. Dooley was horribly bruised and cut.

Mrs. Pankhurst to Speak in New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the English militant suffragette leader, has arranged to sail for the United States on October 4, according to advices received here. She will speak in Madison Square Garden on October 21.

NATTY TOP PIECES FOR 'THE FINEST'

Old Helmets Abandoned for Later Devices in Headgear

"Well, if anybody comes in here dead, don't blame me," laughed Patrolman Phillips, the first man to emerge into the light of day and the blaze of publicity in the street with the new police cap to be worn by members of the force in place of the old-style helmet.

"Hey, capting, when does the ship start?" yelled a "newsy" when he saw the first patrolman with his new "lid."

With their usual good nature, the members of the force endured the rapid fire of witticisms at the expense of the new caps, and before noon the "kidding" had died away and it was admitted that the new caps are a decided improvement on the old helmets.

The new caps, which are exactly modeled on those used by the big metropolitan police departments of New York and of some of the European capitals, are simple and neat in design, lighter and more comfortable than the old village type of helmet. The new caps were authorized by Chief Petersen and were first worn today. They will be worn by the platoons of police to lead the N. S. G. W. parade.

On the streets today the various patrolmen formed the center of critical and often admiring groups of youngsters. The change from the old stiff helmets came as a surprise to the citizens and they walked round the men in blue, inspecting the new chapeaus

The new cap carries a shield in front just above the visor, with the number of the officer and "Oakland Police Department" cut in the metal.

There are about 200 patrolmen on the force and many of them recently purchased new helmets for the last inspection a few months ago. This means the discarding of about $700 worth of headgear effected by the change authorized by the chief.

PEOPLE STUNNED BY EXTENT OF DAMAGE

Hot Springs Fire Leaves 2500 Families Homeless; Heavy Loss

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Sept. 6.—Stunned by the extent of the damage wrought by last night's fire, which swept more than 50 city blocks here, with an estimated loss of $6,000,000, the people of Hot Springs today took first steps toward rehabilitation. Mayor McClendon accepted Governor Hayes' offer of two companies of state militia and ordered a mass meeting of citizens for later in the day, when it will be decided whether the city will call on outside cities for help.

It is estimated that about 2500 persons were made homeless by the fire. The majority of these are being temporarily camped in the vicinity of the Oaklawn racetrack and state fair grounds. Grand avenue, leading from the burned area to the fair grounds, today presented a picturesque sight. Hundreds of families, with what little they saved from the flames, were gathered along the roadway, gradually working their way to the camp grounds. The militia will aid these people and guard the devastated district.

There is no danger of a water famine, according to the authorities. Even if the supply were cut off there are numerous cold springs throughout the city furnishing sufficient water for all prposes.

Under personal direction of Governor George W. Hayes, the task of [illegible] the fire began at daylight today. Under orders of Mayor McClendon all saloons are closed and so far there has been no disorder. Two hundred and fifty citizens, sworn in as a special police force at a mass meeting held last night while the fire was at its height, patrolled the fire-swept area this morning.

Definite figures as to the monetary loss will not be possible until late today.

TO APPLY FOR BAIL THAW'S NEXT MOVE

Attorney Jerome Is Severely Grilled by Judge

MONTREAL, Sept. 6.—An application for bail will be the next move by the lawyers for Harry K. Thaw, who yesterday succeeded in securing from Justices Cross and Gervais a writ of habeas corpus returnable in Montreal on September 15, and an order preventing the immigration officials from deporting Thaw.

SAYS THAW WILL BE DEPORTED.

The legal contingent from Montreal handling Thaw's case, accompanied by "Gentleman" Roger Thompson, the chauffeur who drove the rescue car from Matteawan, returned on a special train this morning.

While the Thaw lawyers declined to commit themselves, it is thought that they will quietly appear in the court of Kings Bench either today or Monday and make their appeal for bail. In legal circles here the belief is held that the Thaw case is now safely launched on its long trip to the privy council.

L. Blake Robertson, assistant superintendent of the dominion immigration department, who passed through Montreal on his way home to Ottawa, said:

"Thaw will be deported; be sure of that."

"WE LICKED JEROME."

Pressed for a statement, Mr. La [illegible] of the Thaw counsel, said: "We licked Jerome and there will be no deportation. That's enough for the present."

MRS. A. CAMINETTI NEAR PROSTRATION

Conviction of Son to Be Followed by New Trial Motion

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Anthony Caminetti, mother of F. Drew Caminetti, son of the commissioner of immigration, convicted last night of violating the Mann White slave law, is almost prostrated. She has been comforted today by the assurance of the defendant's counsel that he will certainly be granted a new trial when he appeals to a higher federal tribunal.

Young Caminetti, who is at liberty on bail, visited the offices of his attorney this morning and appeared quite cheerful. He is doing his best to keep up a good courage, although even his lawyers believe that he will receive his sentence next Wednesday before United States Judge Van Fleet.

"We are preparing motions for a new trial and in arrest of judgment and getting ready our bill of exceptions in both the Caminetti case and the case of Mary I. Diggs," said Attorney Marshall Woodworth today. We will present them to the court, but I may say that I am confident the motion will be denied. We are then

BRACED FOR VERDICT.

Young Caminetti braced himself last night to receive the verdict. His mother and wife nerved themselves also for the struggle and all succeeded very well except Mrs. Caminetti Sr., who was unable to control her emotion. When she realized, however, that the jury had convicted her against him, she was inclined to look upon the situation with a measure of comfort. The defendant was accused of transporting Lola Norris to Reno for an immoral purpose, of similarly sending Marsha Warrington and of individually enticing and persuading both girls to make the trip. These constituted the four counts. Only on the first of these, the trasporting of Lola Norris to Reno, was he found guilty. The maximum punishment he can receive is five years in prison and a fine of $5000. The jury was out five hours, retiring at 12:13 and rendering their verdict at 5:12 p. m. The jurors filed into the box once during the afternoon to receive instructions on the subject of purpose and intent, and remained out two hours thereafter. The foreman was C. F. Michaels, of the firm of Langly & Michaels.

"We, the jury, do find the defendant, F. Drew Caminetti, guilty on the first count of the indictment and not guilty on the second, third and fourth count," read Clerk Maling after an intense moment during which he had recorded and Judge Van Fleet had glanced over it without revealing its contents.

On next Wednesday the trial of Maury I. Diggs and Attorney Charles Harris of Sacramento will be begun on charges of conspiracy to suborn perjury for the alleged attempt to influence the testimony of Marsha Warrington.

Andy Johnson Trusts His Coin to Stranger, Who Is Now Missing.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The horse's name was "Going," and he is still on his way. With him and wagered upon him went $355 belonging to Andy Johnson of 2422 Eagle avenue, Alameda, but Johnson had no chance to win at the start. Indeed he did not know the name of the racer upon which his coin was placed. He met a man who gave the name of Charles Williams, and who told him yesterday that he had a sure thing under cover at the Vancouver races. Johnson handed over his $355 and Williams disappeared. This morning he told his story to Detectives Gallagher, O'Connell and Jackson, who are looking for the confidence man.

has been held at the Emergency hospital.

Last December Mrs. Tyson was divorced by her husband, Mitchel Tyson, a wealthy deep sea pilot and ship owner, who charged her with cruelty. Among the recorded findings of the court at the time was that three small children had been palmed off on the husband by his wife. He learned of the circumstances after five years, the record read. Following the divorce they were placed in charge of the Juvenile Court.

GRANTED ALLOWANCE.

Judge Harris went into the case thoroughly at the time of the hearing of the divorce and the testimony showed that Mrs. Tyson had misrepresented facts to her hesband. She was granted half of the community property, payments to be made in installments of $70 per month for 66 months.

After hearing statements from the sisters District Attorney Hynes announced that the matter possibly might be presented to the grand jury.

"One of the women made emphatic statements regarding the children," he said. "If they are true it is possible that some perjured testimony was given during the divorce trial."

'Perfumed Burglar's' Fiance to Wed Tonight

Miss Marguerite Raab, the Richmond girl who was engaged to Harry Repsold, the "perfumed burglar," at the time of his arrest and sentence to San Quentin, appeared at the office of the County Clerk this morning and took out a license to marry Harry A. Casteel, a young electrician of Richmond. Mis Raab gave her age as 18 years and Casteel as 22 years. The couple came to Oakland on a motorcycle. They stated that they intended to be married here this evening.

Young Repsold, one-time sweetheart of the girl, lost his life last February while attempting to make good his escape from San Quentin. His body was found in the marshes.

The home of Miss Raab was closely watched at the time, as it was believed that her lover would make an effort to communicate with her. She had visited him in prison the day before his escape.

Repsold was the son of the late John Repsold, wealthy distiller. He fell heir to $15,000 from the estate, but on his death it was distributed to sisters in Germany.

Locates Her Child Through 'Movies'

BOSTON, Sept. 6.—A mother's search for nearly a year for her missing husband and child has been brought to a successful close through the medium of motion pictures, according to a letter received from Tokio, Japan, by the police here.

John Ellis, a stockbroker, who carried off his four-year-old daughter Olga, despite a court order that she be delivered to her mother, has been located in the Japanese capital by a person who recognized his likeness in the "movies" at Tokio. The search for her daughter, Mrs. Ellis enlisted the aid of practically every motion film company in the United States and pictures of the husband and children were exhibited all over the world. Although Ellis and the child have been located, they can not be brought back to Boston, according to local police authorities.

District Attorney Nips 'Trust' in Bud

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—What is believed by officials of the district attorney's office to be an attempt to form a violet trust was exposed today by Assistant District Attorney Ferrari. Fifteen Italian violet growers were invited to a banquet at a prominent restaurant in the Latin quarter several days ago by W. B. McLelland to talk business with them and arranged to handle all of their output. Later they realized that the contract entered into was not as favorable as they thought it to be and determined to have nothing to do with it.

Ferrari said this morning that if McLelland attempted to enforce the contract proceedings would be brought against him for violating the Cartwright anti-trust law.

Dr. Goodspeed Will Preach in New Church

Owing to his pastoral duties Rev. F. L. Goodspeed, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, will not be able to deliver a sermon at the devotional services to be held in the chapel of Mills college tomorrow morning. Dr. Goodspeed stated this morning that the non-acceptance of his resignation by the congregation of the Frist Presbyterian church made it necessary for him to change his plans. He will occupy his pulpit tomorrow morning and evening in the new church, Twenty-sixth street and Broadway.

All arrangements for the convention have been completed by the executive committee and sub-comittees in charge. Priests of the Franciscan order of Fruitvale are taking a leading part in the convention. They are Rev. Maximillian Neumann, Rev. Idephonse and Rev. Ferdinand Kenny. The executive committee, of which Joseph Boeddeker is chairman, was appointed by the St. Francis benevolent society and St. Joseph's sodality, two Fruitvale organizations which are superintending the convention and which have raised $1000 to entertain the delegates.

During their stay in Fruitvale the delegates will be the guests of prominent Catholics.

BAND PLAYS UNDER THAW'S WINDOWS

Crowd Cheers Arrival of Writ of Habeas Corpus for Prisoner.

the Thaw case," said Justice Gervais, one of the judges who yesterday issued the writ of habeas corpus and order prohibiting the immigration authorities from deporting Harry K. Thaw.

British sovereignty is quite capable of taking care of any person who appeals to our sense of justice," continued his lordship. "It is not necessary for any lawyer, sheriff, bailiff or any other person to intervene in such a matter.

We are quite capable of looking after any stranger that is within our midst. Mr. Thaw will appear before the full bench of the Court of Appeals and his case will be threshed out there according to its merits."

JEROME GRILLED BY JUDGE.

COATICOOK, Sept. 6.—William Travers Jerome, arrested in Coaticook yesterday on a charge of gambling, was bitterly denounced by Justice of the Peace James McKee in his courtroom today.

The gray-bearded magistrate was very indignant when Jerome's counsel announced that the New York lawyer could not be present today, and asked an adjournment of the hearing of his gambling case.

"I want to say," said McKee, banging the table with his fist, "that we intend to prosecute Mr. Jerome to the full extent of the law. He can't come here and play card games before our children. This may be a suburban town, but we intend to enforce our laws. Our relations with the American bar are cofdial, but justice must be meted out in this case."

The Court then suggested that Jerome's bail be forfeited.

LETS BAIL STAND.

"That would only hit two of our citizens who went on it," said Hanson, the prosecutor. The justice said he would let the bail stand and put the case over until September 11.

There was a crowd of about sixty persons in the court room who stamped their feet and applauded vociferously when the justice denounced Jerome.

Jerome meantime was at Norton Mills, Vt., where he went in a big automobile after being admitted to bail. He was considering the next move to be made in the Thaw case, and for this reason did not deem it best to return to Coaticook, where feeling against him has run high.

JEROME DOES NOT APPEAR.

NORTON MILLS, Vt., Sept. 6.—William Travers Jerome probably will not apear in Coaticook, Quebec, today to answer to the charge of gambling on which he was arrested yesterday. He was still here this morning and announced he would not leave until afternoon. "Then," he said, "I don't know which way I shall go."

THAW STILL IN DETENTION.

COATICOOK, Quebec, Sept. 6.—Harry K. Thaw's lawyers, having thrown a wrench into the machinery to deport him, and William Travers Jerome having motored quietly away to Norton's Mills, Vermont, after his arrest yesterday and released on $500 bail on a charge of gambling, Coaticook resumed its normal state today. Thaw remained, deserted by counsel, in the immigration detention pen over the Grand Trunk railway station.

Jerome's preliminary hearing was set for this morning before Magistrate Kee, but his counsel were to ask to have the hearing continued.

Thaw may remain here a day or a week. Not until September 15 is he to appear at Montreal before the full King's bench, appeal side, on the writ of habeas corpus.

CASE IS CONFUSED.

As matters stand, the case of the fugitive slayer is more snarled up than at any time since his escape from Matteawan. Ordered deported for two reasons—entering the Dominion by stealth and having been an inmate of an insane asylum within five years—his appeal to the minister of the interior automatically stayed proceedings.

Then came the writ of habeas corpus and the restraining order granted at Montreal. As a matter of fact, the restraining order was issued prior to the time the deportation decision was returned and it is a question whether this does not invalidate the findings. In any event, Thaw will have his court hearing.

CROWD CHEERS.

The arrival of the writ here last evening on a special train was greeted with wild cheering by the crowd around the railroad station. Thaw himself thought it was returnable at once and had prepared to go to Montreal on a special train. For an hour the crowd waited, then the special whirled away, but Thaw was not on it. It carried only his victorious lawyers, headed by J. N. Greenshields and N. K. La Flamme.

Thaw's guards said he slept well last night, in spite of the excitement of yesterday. He retired after the Coaticook band had given a concert beneath his barred windows, playing in conclusion "God Save the King," while the throng shouted, "Three cheers for Thaw!" Ordinarily the band plays in the park, but the members could not resist the chance of playing for Thaw before a sympathetic populace.

WILL DISCUSS CITY OWNERSHIP OF TRACTION

Progress and Prosperity Committee to Debate Resolution for Lines.

Proposed to Form District and Take Over United Properties' Holdings.

The project for a municipal district to take over the traction lines of the east bay region will be discussed at a special meeting next Friday night when, under the auspices of the Progress and [illegible] a debate which will be followed by general discussion. This was decided last night when the committee refused to endorse the plan until it was more thoroughly discussed. A resolution, presented to endorse the project, was voted down and a substitute calling for a campaign of education in the committee, before the matter comes up, was ordered.

The endorsement of the project was opposed on the ground that to endorse it would be acting without sufficient data, and the speakers favoring a more thorough debate were W. E. Gibson, Irving Kahn, J. Richardson, S. C. Chambers and C. W. Dickey.

New officers were elected last night as follows. E. C. Kayser will act for a second term as chairman; Dr. G. B. N. Clow will be vice-chairman; George Mason, secretary, and Charles Gorman, treasurer. The committee appointed to arrange the debate next Friday is composed of Dr. G. B. N. Clow, Charles Gorman, and C. W. Dickey. L. R. Richardson was asked to accept the vice-chairmanship, but refused on the ground that such an office would interfere with his business and take up too much of his time.

PROPOSED TRACTION DISTRICT.

The proposed traction district, composed of cities and unincorporated districts traversed by the east bay traction lines, which district it is proposed to form to take over the United Properties street railroad holdings and operate them publicly, was favored by Mayor Frank K. Mott in a wire sent by him yesterday in answer to queries from those interested in the plan.

"My action toward the municipal water district plan," wired the mayor "plainly indicates my attitude toward municipal ownership of public utilities." Mott has been an ardent supporter of the plan for the water district.

Labor organizations are ranging themselves behind the fight for the district. Monday will see a discussion of the plan before the Oakland Center of the California Civic League, which will meet at the Key Route Inn. Resolutions will be introduced before the women, endorsing the plan, and a debate is expected to take place. The Child's Welfare League has endorsed the plan as one which will gain the half-fare for school children.

Women of the Berkeley Civic center will take up the matter Thursday afternoon at an informal discussion. The Builders' Exchange is planning a meeting, the date to be announced in the near future, when the plan will be discussed before that body.

HAVILAND TENDERS SERVICES.

BERKELEY, Sept. 6—The problem of a proper description of the territories involved in the proposed municipal assumption of control of the traction lines has been settled by the tender of services made by County Superintendent Perry A. Haviland. Following a conference between Haviland and Mayor Heywood, the latter announced that Haviland had volunteered to make the necessary descriptions.

Mayor Heywood has decided to await the return of Mayor Frank K. Mott of Oakland to that city next week before proceeding with his plans for a meeting of administration officers in the cities involved. The meeting will probably be held early in next week. A definite program will then be decided upon.

The offer of County Surveyor Haviland to furnish the needed data has removed the difficulty hitherto preventing City Attorney Staats from proceeding with the drafting of an ordinance to take over the lines under the provisions of the Gates act. Staats has been directed to confer with Haviland as he finds such conference necessary. The county surveyor is connected also with the Richmond harbor project and knows the problems of that end of the bay shores as well as this.

Mayor Heywood pointed out today that more than forty per cent of the traction company's lines are in this city, and hence, that there assumption is especially of importance here. The Key Route system is 43 per cent in Berkeley.

EDUCATORS WILL MEET ON WHEELS

Sessions of Superintendents to Be Held on and Off Special Train.

The central point about which the convention will be held will be Mt. Shasta. Four different cities in the northern part of the state will divide the sessions and the visiting delegates will live aboard the train.

The special will leave Sacramento Sunday night, September 21. The first session will be held Monday at Castle Crags. The dead victim is Edward McConnville, 12 years old, Albia, struck on the head by falling stake. The funnel-shaped cloud descended not more than 300 feet from the tent. The storm struck the big top with full force. All the ropes snapped and the poles collapsed.

and Tuesday nights. There has been no expense spared in preparing Oakland for a bath of electricity for the four nights of the celebration and it is expected that the display about Lake Merritt alone will create a sensation of approval on the part of the visitors.

The varied colored flags across the business street by day and the red, white and blue incandescents by night, do and will present a spectacle that will give the atmosphere of general levity and the full carnival spirit to the festivities. On the city hall strong searchlights will flash the seal of the highest joy, and their flashing will indicate the persistence of the search for entertainment during the four days of merry-making.

CELEBRATION AT IDORA.

The Idora park management has also planned for the reception of the guests who may seek enjoyment at the popular amusement place. Over 50,000 electric lights and a searchlight will enliven the spirit at the park. A feature of the celebration [illegible] the automobiles that "pass in the air." Tomorrow night there will be a two-mile amateur race in the big Idora skating rink, the entree being free to every native son. The present record is six minutes.

At this time about 4000 visitors have arrived, the Merced delegation being the first to come in. By 6 o'clock this evening it is estimated that 10,000 Native Sons and Native Daughters will have reached Oakland and late tonight and tomorrow morning the same number are due to arrive.

All the other parlors will have receptions in an informal manner at their headquarters, and the visiting delegations have announced that they will be ready to greet all those who may have made their homes in their cities at any time.

Program for Tonight and Other Events

Tonight there will be a grand illumination of the city. Ten miles of streets will glitter with red, white and blue lights. Bears outlined in electric lights have been hung on the four sides of the city hall. Huge searchlights, mounted on the top of the city hall tower, will sweep the city and country for miles around. The grand court of honor at Fourteenth street and San Pablo and Telegraph avenues, of white and gold columns, outlined in electric lights and surmounted with golden bears, will be one of the finest decorations ever seen in the West. Above the court will be swung a canopy of incadescent globes, and in the center of the canopy a big bear, in colored bulbs, will be suspended.

MANY RECEPTIONS.

There will be receptions of visiting delegates of Natives Sons and Daughters, who will be escorted to their headquarters in the halls and hotels of Oakland. The visitors will return the hospitality by holding receptions and dances in their quarters during the four evenings.

A part of the evening's program will be the opening concert by Native Sons' bands. There are eight prizes to be competed for, the first for $125, the second for $75, two for $50 and four for $25. Each band is expected to provide a full concert program, including the test pieces selected by the competition committee. The judges will be competent musicians not connected with the Native Sons' order. The bands will play at different down-town sections of the city during the four evenings of the celebration.

The program for the remaining three days is as follows:

WASHINGTON STATE DISLIKES MEAGRE FAIR SITE

Commissioners Claim They Will Be Unable to Make Dignified Exhibit.

Architect to Be Sent to San Francisco to Make Inquiry.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 6.—The Post-Intelligencer today says:

"The building site reserved for Washington at the Panama-Pacific Exposition is too small and it will be impossible to make a dignified display," is the contention of the Washington state exposition commission.

"The exposition directors at San Washington will not attempt to erect a building on the tract reserved, and that if this state is to participate in the big fair it must have more space."

The exposition directors offered another site in an obscure part of the grounds, which was refused.

The tract reserved for Washington is in the form of a trapezoid one side of which is 120 feet long and the opposite side 350 feet long. The distance between the two parallels is 12 feet. Owing to the building requirements at the exposition, the structure may not be built nearer than 20 feet to the boundaries of the land. This will limit the Washington building to 80x140 feet.

WITHDRAWAL UNCERTAIN.

Whether the Washington commission will withdraw from the San Francisco fair and refuse to erect any building at all unless a suitable site is furnished is a matter for determination. Under the act passed by the last legislature the exposition commission is clothed with full powers as to the expenditure of the $200,000 appropriated. Of this amount $25,000 will be spent at San Diego and $175,000 at San Francisco.

The site for Washingto was selected in January, 1912. It is reasonably well situated, but until an architect was employed to draw plans its scanty proportions were unnoticed.

In order to make another effort to secure a suitable site the commission shortly will send an architect to San Francisco.

PASSENGERS HAVE NARROW ESCAPE

Steamship Cricket Lists and Part of the Cargo Is Jettisoned.

Thirty passengers who sailed aboard the steamship Cricket from the estuary late yesterday had a narrow escape when the vessel listed at an angle of 45 degrees before it passed Goat Island. It was necessary for Captain Wehman to jettison 3000 feet of lumber to keep the Cricket from turning turtle. The passengers had difficulty in clinging to the decks. Shortly after 9 o'clock the Cricket put about and docked at the sea wall on the San Francisco side.

The fuel tanks had not been filled at starting for San Pedro, and the list was caused by the top-heaviness of the cargo of lumber. After filling the oil tanks the vessel proceeded. It belongs to F. Linderman & Co.

After arriving in the bay in safety, with a large lumber raft in tow, the Hammond Lumber Company's steamship Edgar H. Vance, nearly capsized off Goat Island while attempting to shift the tow to the tug Pilot. Several thousand feet of lumber were thrown overboard. As a consequence of the two accidents the bay was filled with driftwood today.

DAVIS PAYS TRIBUTE TO CITY OF HIS BOYHOOD

Actor-Playwright on Leaving Oakland Pens Farewell, Praising Her Progress

A tribute to Oakland, his home city, was paid today by Edwards Davis, actor, playwright, impressario and former minister, who on leaving the city of his youth, wrote a paragraph lauding the city he found grown on the site of the town where he spent his boyhood and early manhood and expressed his regret at leaving. Davis spent his youth here and was pastor of the First Christian church before leaving to embark in theatrical ventures. He leaves for Los Angeles, where he is bound on his present Orpheum engagement. His tribute follows:

A PARAGRAPH ON OAKLAND.

On the evening before my departure from Oakland, before facing the labyrinth-like vicissitudes and varying scenes of a thespian's migrations, as one [illegible] bid "Adieu." I would not mar the reverence in my heart with any flippancy of compliment, but as a wandering son returning from a wilderness, when sheltered by a hallowed home, I pay the homage of my filial love to the city of my youth.

As men pass further forward in the press of their affairs, leaving behind the ruins of the castles of their dreams, new heights appear, which must be scaled, though each one seemed the summit of their hope. [illegible] higher view, when we look back and comprehend the sacred walls of childhood's homes have vanished in the vistas of our dimming memories, but on its gracious ground arises, fair as a mirage, though fixed as an eternal temple, a wider structure of human love, less selfish than when toys and games distorted our affections, and more generous with the gift of amnesty, we see our social, patriotic and cosmopolitan responsibilities.

By chance I was taken up to the top of a majestic building, and suddenly there loomed before me a new city, that was old only in its name! In my babyhood I had lisped its syllables. Where once my bared feet had trod its paths, paved streets were faced by mansions built in stone. A shallow, willow-laved marsh, immured lagoon lay like a wondrous sapphire set in marble. The hills where dreamless herds of brutes had browsed, were peopled with a throng of aspirants to human happiness. Then—I remember that lesson in geography. Oakland in 1880 was a town of 25,000. Now lay before me, but a generation afterward, a metropolis, within whose gates a quarter of a million human souls [illegible] inspired with hope and weary brains intoxicated with splendid civic pride had built upon its fair foundations a city of stone. Situatedas uniquely as Rome and as fairly domed and walled with sky and hills, may Oakland be as lasting with honored dignity among the cities of the world.

And then I considered the wonderful edifice where I stood. Its modern architecture, its majesty of proportion made me realize by comparison that no city of [illegible] was more splendor-ly ornamented. The old, dead city hall, as it shall live in memory, may be a monument of Old Oakland, but this new white stone temple shall be a visual call to big responsibilities and the larger hopes of honorable and honored men.

VITICULTURISTS SEND PROTEST ON TAX

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6.—Secretary Sheehan of the State Viticultural Commission sent the following telegram yesterday to the Senators and Congressmen from California at Washington, urging them to oppose the Pomerene amendment, which raises the tax on brandy used in the fortification of sweet wine from 3 cents to $1.10 per gallon.

"The State Board of Viticultural Commissioners, by resolution, directs me to wire you its protest against the passage of the Pomerene amendment affecting California's wine industry. The board speaks in behalf of the entire viticultural interests of this state, which are vitally affected and threatened with extermination by so radical a measure.

"Please exert every effort in opposition to the amendment and suggest by wire if this board may be able to exercise its influence in Congress in any other channels. The wine grape growers of California and the producers of wine are in no position to bear so exorbitant a tax."

Adenoids are a Menace to Children.

Babies and young children must be carefully watched for the growth of adenoids, which spoil the mental and physical life of a child. They usually result from a succession of colds and throat irritations, and their presence is so productive of harm, that many school boards have an examining physician to detect them. The conditions that cause them may be easily avoided by careful parents. Quickly and thoroughly cure all colds and throat irritations by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and adenoids will not develop. Drug Department, Kahn's.

DRINKS POISON IN A CUP OF COFFEE

John Leal Bids His Daughter Goodbye, Then Swallows Styrchnine.

After saying good-bye to his pretty daughter, Marie, John Leal, 57 years of age, calmly walked into his rooms at 3400 Peralta street this morning, poured a cup of coffee, put in the contents of a vial of strychnine and drank the solution. He died before a physician could be summoned. Domestic troubles are given as the reason for Leal's act.

Leal sought his daughter in a yard at the rear of their home shortly after 10 o'clock this morning. The girl, who is 21 years of age, has taken sides with her father in the domestic squabbles, which had disrupted the home, and it is was to her that Leal took his troubles.

"I am tired of all this discord, this trouble," Leal told the girl. "I am going to take a good long sleep."

He left her and returned to the house. The girl, suspecting that he would attempt suicide, followed, and entered his room in time to see him drink the poison. She screamed, and ran into the rooms of other inmates of the house. A physician was telephoned for, but arrived too late. Leal is survived by a wife and three daughters.

VALLEJO-BENICIA ELECTRIC ROAD LOCAL BENEFIT

The proposed electric road between Vallejo and Benicia has aroused the interest of the Oakland chamber of commerce, and local business men are urging its support as a means of connecting the railroads centering at Vallejo and the Benicia-Martinez ferry, the latter communicating with the bay shore and tunnel roads.

The building of this branch road would accommodate, it is said, a population of approximately 50,000 from Vallejo, Benicia, Martinez and the immediate territory tributary thereto. Such a road would, it is urged, be an important link in connecting the communities north of the bay and the straits and those of Alameda and Contra Costa counties.

SATURDAY Sept. 6, 1913 | OAKLAND TRIBUNE EDITORIAL PAGE | FOUNDED BY William E. Dargie IN 1875

The Rees Harbor Plan Is Disapproved

THE REPORT of the harbor survey made by Col. W. H. Heuer, U. S. A., retired, and City Engineer Perry F. Brown sustains at all points the objections THE TRIBUNE made to the tentative plan for the improvement of the western waterfront submitted by Col. Rees, and which provoked so much discussion a short time ago.

Col. Heuer and Mr. Brown agree with THE TRIBUNE that the adoption of the Rees plan would necessitate not only a radical change in the plan of improving the Key Route basin, on which a large sum has already been expended, but a surrender by Oakland of her power to control and direct harbor development on the bay shore.

It would link up Oakland's harbor plans with private interests and the plans of the other municipalities fronting on the bay shore.

At the outset the Rees plan would necessitate an invasion of the franchise privilege granted the San Francisco, Oakland & San Jose Railroad Company and bring on other complications which would inevitably delay harbor development for years. The whole scheme of harbor improvement would be tied up with private property interests, which would have to be placated or eliminated.

The report points out that the conflicting commercial and industrial ambitions of the several municipalities to be served by the Rees plan would have a tendency to prevent proper concentration upon the work of improvement. Which is to say that Richmond and Berkeley would contend that the work of constructing a breakwater and excavating a channel should begin at the northern end of the proposed improvement, while the removal of the Key Route pier would involve a long delay and much confusion in the ferry traffic between San Francisco and Oakland and Berkeley, besides long litigation. Oakland would have to wait on the government and the government would have to await the pleasure of Richmond and Berkeley, and the owners of the tide lands traversed by the proposed harbor channel.

Co-operation for prompt and effective work would be well nigh impossible in the present circumstances. The situation is thus summed up by Col. Heuer and Mr. Brown.

"The harbor known as the Key Route Basin is owned by the city of Oakland, and its development can be carried on independent of any other municipality or private interest. On the other hand the Col. Rees project north of the original charter line of Oakland is on privately owned property, which no doubt will require years to acquire; while its passing through four or more incorporated municipalities, with their individual commercial ambitions, will have a tendency to cause the work to be done with that lack of concentration and continuity at any particular locality necessary to develop a useful harbor.

"Where harbors are designed by United States officials, if approved by Congress, the government generally supplies liberal aid in their construction. The harbor in the Key Route basin is precisely for the same purpose as though it had been designed by government engineers, and in our opinion it would be perfectly proper to ask for and to expect government aid.

"After careful consideration of the several projects for a western waterfront for the city of Oakland we believe the project known as the Key Route Basin to be the most suitable, and we therefore recommend its retention."

Oakland should never surrender control of the Key Route Basin or agree to any proposition that will interfere with its immediate improvement independently of the harbor plans of other cities.

That is what THE TRIBUNE contended for in the first instance. This contention has now been fortified by the findings of authoritative experts. These findings are a comprehensive presentation of facts and conditions, showing that Oakland's commercial future and independence depend upon the independent control and improvement of her harbor basin.

Oakland does not wish to take anything from any other city nor interfere with the harbor improvement plans of other cities, but she insists that nothing shall be taken from her and that no other community or interest shall be permitted to interfere with her plans. Hence it is vital that the water area of the Key Route Basin shall not be decreased and that it shall be kept free from obstructions; its development must not depend upon the consent or co-operation of anybody else.

eep the Highways in Repair.

Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty. It is also the price of d roads. It is not enough to build good roads. After they e built constant work and intelligent attention are required to ep them good.

Here is where the American scheme of highway improvement often fails. Maintenance, upkeep, is neglected, and roads are wed to fall into decay after being constructed. We seem to nk roads will take care of themselves and repair the ravages wear and tear and the elements. We make little or no provis- for inspection and repair. Too often the repairs are crudely de by persons ignorant of the science of road building, and n out to be mere temporary patchwork done in a haphazard ay. Hence our good roads scheme breaks down at the most im- tant point.

We should take a lesson from the railroads. Railway opera- cannot afford to let their roadbeds fall into disrepair, for y are responsible for the damage to person and property used by wrecks. Their lines are inspected every day by men ined to the business. A gang of workmen under an experi- ed foreman is stationed every few miles to keep the tracks roadbed in order. Ties are replaced with new ones the mo- nt they show signs of decay. Every little damage to the road- is repaired before it becomes serious. Responsibility compels gilance, and the result is safety, convenience and expedition.

Suppose the same policy were adopted with reference to wagon ds. At present roads begin to grow worse the moment they constructed. They would constantly become better if we dopted the policy pursued by railroad managers. The highways ould always be in repair and in perfect condition for travel. We all never have an ideal road system till we do just that thing. is what they do in Europe. In England, France and Germany roads are delightful to travel over because they are always pt in perfect condition. Inspection and constant repair keep em so. We should learn from the example of other countries — to keep our roads in good order after building them.

The mantle of the late Jerry Simpson, known to fame as the ikless Socrates of Medicine Lodge, appears to have fallen on Hon. Bob Henry of Waco, Texas. Mr. Henry has insurged on currency bill. It is a betrayal of the people, in his opinion, use it does not provide for the acceptance of turnips and cab- as collateral for government loans. Mr. Henry wants a king system based on the products of the soil. That is his of "a more and a fittener currency" as Calamity Weller would Did we hear Carl Browne say hooray? Perhaps it was only Hon. John Thomas Helflin saying: "Me, too, Pete." John mes also cherishes the potato and onion notion of currency

Twenty years ago the proposal to tax incomes was styled a ical scheme of spoliation. Now it is called a Socialist confiscation. Those in receipt of big incomes will not matter how it is described.

WOMAN HEAD OF SCHOOLS UPHELD

Mayor Harrison Declares That Superintendent Is Real 'Boss' of Department.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Ella Flagg Young, superintendent of Chicago schools, whose recent resignation, tendered because of the opposition of a few members of the board of education, was rejected when a public demonstration was made in her behalf, is to be absolute "boss" of the city educational system. That is the way Mayor Harrison put it following a conference late yesterday with Mrs. Young.

"I believe the superintendent of schools should be superintendent in fact as well as in name, should in short be boss of the works," asserted the mayor. "If a member of the board doubts her wisdom and efficiency I should advise him not to turn down her recommendation, but to look for a new superintendent. I have appointed members to the school board on the theory that they would look after the business side of the administration. Nothing was said about textbooks except that the superintendent should select them and that the board should adopt her recommendations."

SUBMARINE PATENTEE FACES NEW CLAIMANT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—Charging that John M. Cage is not the inventor of the submarine boat which recently established a world's record by staying under water for thirty-six hours at Long Beach, attorneys representing Walter L. Newson, a young mechanician of Philadelphia, have filed a complaint against Cage in the United States District court here.

This apparatus describes the submarine boat by letter and diagram and is witnessed by John M. Cage himself. Mr. Cage can explain that, said one of Newsom's attorneys yesterday "then he will have to controvert the testimony of his own handwriting."

The road enters Nevada at Ely and runs due west through Eureka, Austin, Reno and Carson. The road strikes Lake Tahoe at Glenbrook and continues on the California State Highway around the south end of the lake. It is not the road followed by the Indiana highway boosters.

Knights Dedicate Castle

Grand Officers Are Present

NEW PYTHIAN CASTLE AT FRUITVALE, WHICH WAS DEDICATED LAST NIGHT IN THE PRESENCE OF A LARGE CROWD.

FRUITVALE, Sept. 6.—A picturesque and impressive ceremony attended the dedication of the new Fruitvale Pythian Castle last night. The dedication was held under the auspices of the Grand Lodge of the state of California and was conducted according to the simple rites of the Knights of Pythias.

Among the grand officers present and who took part in the dedication were: Grand Chancellor Ralph W. Schoonover, Vice-Grand Chancellor pro tem Robert F. Burns, Master-at-Arms pro tem H. J. Purcell, Inner Guard pro tem John J. Naegle, Outer Guard George Dixon.

The ceremonies were interspersed with a short program, Master of Ceremonies E. S. Bowlsbey presiding. Among those who contributed to the musical program were: Carl Schuidler, vocal solo, accompanied by Ashton G. Leach; Professor Gallur, piano solo; Ashton G. Leach, vocal solo.

Speeches were made by the following Grand Lodge officers following the dedication: Grand Chancellor Ralph W. Schoonover, Past Supreme Representative Robert F. Burns, Past Supreme Representative George Samuels, Grand Master of Exchequer James R. Sloan, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals Herman Schaffner, Grand Master-of-Arms H. J. Purcell, Grand Outer Guard George Dixon.

An informal reception was given by Fruitvale Knights of Pythias and the visiting Knights to the grand chancellor.

The success of last night's function was in large measure due to the work of H. V. Carter, secretary of the Pythian Hall Association, and to E. S. Bowlsbey, president of the Hall Association, who acted as master of ceremonies. These two Knights were largely instrumental in bringing the grand officers to Fruitvale to participate in the dedication.

Bowlsbey and Carter were among the first of the Fruitvale Pythians to suggest a castle in Fruitvale and their efforts have brought about the construction of a $32,000 building, which is said to be one of the finest lodge homes in the state.

Among the other members of the Hall Association who took a prominent part in the dedication were: W. N. Whitmore, F. L. Parker, A. S. Meily and C. T. Gutleben.

BATS ARE DECLARED TO BE BENEFIT; NOT A PLAGUE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—"Never bat a bat, for he's battling for humanity," is not the title or refrain of a popular song, but it is, in effect, the title of a warning issued today by the experts of the department of agriculture against the killing or destruction of the nocturnal winged fighters of insects. The warning was issued as the result of an accumulation of inquiries as to the best methods of exterminating bats.

"Bats are a benefit, rather than a plague," the statement declares, "as they destroy mosquitoes and a number of other insects that harm crops and orchards. The superstition that they entangle themselves in women's hair is without foundation. On the contrary the ordinary bat is a harmless creature."

The department experts give official recognition to the vampire bat, which they declare "sucks the blood of animals."

COALING SYSTEM MAY BE FAILURE

Initial Experiments With Jupiter Develops Several Defects.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—A special board of naval experts, en route from Washington to test the efficiency of the new naval collier Jupiter, probably will be called upon to investigate charges that the new coaling gear, which consists of eight steel towers supporting transverse wire spans for the carriage of huge clam shell buckets, is defective.

The defects in the big electrically-driven collier's loading system were discovered by a board of inquiry appointed two weeks ago to superintend the initial loading of the latest addition to the United States navy.

The British steamship Bellerado, laden with 6451 tons of coal from Norfolk, was moored alongside the Jupiter twelve days ago, and after the hatch covers had been removed the heavy coal buckets suspended from the Jupiter's towers began to dip into the cargo.

Despite the claims made for the new system, a daily average of about 400 tons only was removed to the capacious bunkers of the Jupiter, and at noon yesterday it was decided to abandon the experiment and unload the remainder of the Bellerado's cargo into barges.

It was ascertained further that the continual striking of the heavy steel buckets against the hatch combings of the Bellerado had caused considerable damage to that vessel.

Despite the efforts of the naval officers to keep the matter secret, the story became known yesterday, when a force of mechanics from the Jupiter and Mare Island navy yard were busily engaged in an attempt to repair the damage on the Bellerado.

Another charge made against the efficiency of the Jupiter is that it will be impossible to utilize the big collier to coal warships at sea, or when anchored, except in a harbor protected from the swells of the open sea.

One of the experts who witnessed the experiments last week said that an attempt to transfer coal to a warship at sea would result in the loss of a large portion of the coal.

It is said that before the Jupiter can be put in commission it will be necessary to substitute for the new and intricate system of gears and buckets, a continual chain of small buckets, such as is used on the colliers of the British navy.

These endless chains load or discharge 800 tons in a single hour, and a cargo equal to that of the Bellerado could be handled with them in a single day.

[illegible] twenty days for the same work.

MILITIA TO GET MACHINE GUNS

United States War Department Will Supply Big Weapons.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 6.—A militia machine gun company, the first of its kind to be established in any western state, will be mustered into service in Los Angeles within a month. This announcement was made today by Adjutant General Forbes. The company will number seventy men and six guns, two for each battalion. It is the plan of the adjutant general to augment the strength of each of the three infantry regiments of the California National Guard by mustering in machine gun companies.

Colonel W. G. Schreiber of Los Angeles, commander of the Seventh Infantry, will muster in the company. Thirty of the seventy men in the company are bank clerks. The guns will be supplied by the United States war department.

"With three machine gun companies in the militia, one in each infantry regiment, the California National Guard will be equal in strength as a unit to the regular army," said General Forbes.

"So far as I know, no state has yet mustered into service a company of this kind."

CHINESE YOUTH NOT GUILTY OF BRIBERY

Bennie Lim, a 15-year-old Chinese youth, was vindicated of having attempted to bribe Patrolman G. W. Pratt with [illegible] which his case was heard before Superior Judge Ogden in the juvenile court yesterday afternoon. Officer Pratt raided a restaurant at 1740 Seventh street and took Lim Bing into custody. The testimony showed that while waiting for the patrol wagon Lim Bing had instructed Bennie Lim in Chinese, to do something for him. Bennie returned with the money and gave it to the prisoner. The court held that the boy had merely acted as messenger and was not a party to the attempted bribe.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY ROUTES PRAISED

Soenic Grandeur of Northern Trip Rivals Wonders of the World.

(By EDMUND CRINNION.)

"The hospitality of the citizens of Humboldt county vies with the grandeur of the scenery, and that both are the greatest ever," says Max N. Rosenfeld, veteran automobile dealer.

In speaking of the recent Three States Good Roads Convention, held at Eureka, Max L. Rosenfeld, agent for the Velie cars, said: "Great good will come out of that convention, but if you want to see real scenery, beautiful redwoods, lovely trout streams and hospitable inhabitants, you just want to duplicate the trip we have just completed to Eureka and return.

"Many motorists the last few years have taken the trip to Eureka over the conventional auto stage road, going via Willetts, Laytonville, Bells Springs and Dyerville. It is a pretty trip, but some of the roads are rough. The real, lovely trip for fine scenery and good roads, though steep, however, as follows: Sausalito, San Rafael to Santa Rosa, to Cloverdale, hence over new State highway for a short way and then take left fork road to Booneville and on towards the coast by way of Wendling, Navarro, Albion, Little River, Mendocino City, Caspar and Noyo to Fort Bragg.

"It is best to leave San Francisco in the afternoon and spend the first night in Cloverdale, and then take it leisurely the next day, enjoying the ever-changing and beautiful views as you come out along the coast, spending the night at Fort Bragg. The road goes up the coast through Westport, and although the hills are very steep, the road bed is good and the scenery magnificent.

"The road passes along the tops of cliffs and mountains, with the beautiful blue Pacific Ocean surging hundreds of feet below. Further on, one has a choice of two roads to Garberville—the one along nearer the coast by Shelter Cove or Inland at once to Garberville and thence to Dyerville. Just before reaching Garberville we had quite a stream to ford but our carburetor and magneto are located high up under the hood, and we got through without any need of the waiting horse.

"Just before reaching Dyerville, one passes through magnificent redwood forests. At Dyerville there is a pontoon toll bridge, and someone afterwards told us that some parties dug holes in the river bottom to force automobiles to take the bridge, but we saw a wagon fording the river, so we plunged right in, and greatly to the surprise and disappointment of the bridge tender, we plowed right through the two feet of water and on up the other bank. After leaving Dyerville, there are more beautiful redwood forests to traverse and the roadbed here, owing to increased traffic, is not quite so good.

"The bridges are getting old and rickety, and the boards wearing away are leaving the nails exposed. The stream has to be forded again just before reaching Fortuna, and there are two choices of ferry there, and I would advise all those whose carburetors and magnetos are not placed high on their motors to take the ferry, as the stream is deeper here.

"From Fortuna on the road is magnificent right in to Eureka. And once in Eureka, as all along the line, we were treated most royally.

"The return trip was made by many via Red Bluff and the Sacramento valley, which is warmer by far, although the roads are easier. Others came via Corona at Dyerville to Harris and thence to Laytonville and Willetts, thence to Ukiah and down the Russian river and Sonoma valleys.

"I might also add that there are several routes to Fort Bragg from Ukiah, instead of the road to Fort Bragg that I first described, but for scenic beauty you cannot get a nicer one than the first route I outlined.

"Again, let me add, for the benefit of those who want to go to Europe, see California first."

WATERMAN TO DRIVE.

The auto race fans who were disappointed at hearing of Louis Nickrent's resolve to abandon the racing game will [illegible] Howard Automobile Company that Nickrent's little Buick, which has been a big contender in all of the auto events of the last few years, will be driven in the Corona race on September 9 by Ed Waterman, who jumped into prominence on July 4 by driving his Buick, which was the 45th car to leave Los Angeles, over the finishing line at Sacramento in second place. Waterman will bring the little car direct from Corona to Fresno, where he will race at the Fresno County Fair, on October 1.

He also expects to drive a Buick in the Los Angeles to Phoenix Desert Race in November.

Waterman demonstrated on July 4 by the decisive way in which he defeated some of the world's most noted drivers, among them Barney Oldfield in his 120 h.p. Fiat, that he is worthy of respect in the fastest company, and coupling his skill as a driver with teh admitted speed and endurance of the Buick they should certainly make a winning combination.

Valerius' new duties place him in charge of the two Haynes Indiana tour cars, which will leave Tuesday for an extensive trip throughout Northern California.

CALLS NEW LAW A 'HODGE PODGE'

Judge Ogden Seeking Way Out of Difficulty in Delinquency Cases.

Declaring that the new juvenile court act is "hodge-podge," Superior Judge F. B. Ogden is seeking a way out of the difficulty which confronts the court in the cases of Fred Ohe and Charles Josephs, who were recently indicted by the grand jury for alleged contribution to the delinquency of Helen Sergeant, a 15 year old girl.

The cases were up for arraignment yesterday afternoon. Attorney A. L. Frick, representing the defendants, raised the point that by following the wording of the new act there was no way in which the two defendants could be tried. The new juvenile court act as signed by Governor Johnson is said not to have been [illegible]

The act provides that such cases as that of Ohe must be disposed of in the juvenile court by a juvenile judge. The judge who presides at the original hearing cannot finish the case. Judge Ogden is the juvenile court judge and is therefore disqualified from further hearing of the case as he held the arraignment.

"This law appears to be very peculiar," said the court.

The two cases were ordered transferred to the criminal department but District Attorney Hynes later asked that the order be set aside until he could go more thoroughly into the questions involved.

BRANNER'S ADVICE TO STANFORDITES

New Head of College Gives Some "Don'ts" for the Students.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Sept. 6.—Marking his first appearance before his students since becoming president of Stanford University, Dr. John Casper Branner, formally welcomed the faculty and students to another semester of university work. The new president outlined the work before him during the year and made a significant address. He was given a great reception by the students among whom he is a favorite.

Mrs. E. W. Allen, dean of women; Rev. D. Charles Gardner, university chaplain, and Karl Schaupp, student adviser, were also speakers at the initial assembly of the year. President Branner advised his hearers, especially the freshmen, with a few "don'ts." These were:

"Keep the place in order, don't destroy, don't smoke on the Quad and in all other things be simply ladies and gentlemen. Don't fall in with some committees; avoid the new broom, for it is expected to sweep clean. We may be afraid of a reputation for leniency, so do not expect us to temper justice with mercy. Finally, don't play too much, or study too much."

Mrs. Allan addressed an assembly for the first time since coming to Stanford and said in part: "The type of Stanford manhood and womanhood is the finest in the land. Do your part to support the good name of the alma mater. Let me beg of you, until your vision is cleared, to make use of the guides that the university has provided. Enjoy life here and do your work."

Schaupp explained his duties as adviser to the new students, and Chaplain Gardner welcomed the newcomers as a spiritual adviser of the university.

SANITARIUM BURNED IN EARLY MORNING FIRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—A sanatorium at 56 Alma street, owned by Miss Anna Hauk, was almost completely destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. Fortunately there were no patients and the work of the department was confined to the saving of the surrounding property. The fire started from an overheated gas stove, which also caused some damage to the house at 54 and 52 Alma street, adjoining.

NOTES WOULD DO HARM, NOT GOOD

President of Chicago Bank So Informs Senate Currency Committee.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6.—George M. Reynolds, president of the Continental and Commercial bank at Chicago, told the senate banking committee today he believed there would be a violent inflation of credits if treasury notes were made legal tender and held as part of national bank reserve funds, as proposed by the administration currency bill.

Reynolds believed the bill's strongest favorable feature was that it would provide for proper elasticity in credits and currency. He believed the bill would "do great good owing to the fact that it helps in the mobilization of reserves," but he did not think it went far enough.

VISITORS TO EXPOSITION SITE MUST PAY FEE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The gates of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be closed on September 9 and admission to the grounds on that day and thereafter prior to February 20, 1915, will be charged for at the following rate: Adults, 25 cents; children, 10 cents; automobiles, 50 cents.

"Every one of the exhibit buildings for the Panama-Pacific International Exposition will be completed nine months before February 20, 1915, the opening day of the exposition," was the statement made officially yesterday by Harris D. H. Connick, director of works of the exposition. "Contracts for all but two of the exhibit palaces have been let and the contractors are carrying them out with vigor. Of the other two, the contract for one will be let within fifteen days and for the other soon afterward.

"The work throughout the grounds is progressing with entire satisfaction to all concerned and there is no danger that the celebration of the completion of the Panama canal will not be opened in San Francisco on time to the minute."

YOU FIND REAL OL FOR DANCING.

For dancing at Del Monte it is the new school of dancing, has very little in common with ces that startled society some ago. Everybody is learning the walk, and the one step. Mrs. ays of the castle walk:

—that's the kind of dancing they are doing at Del Monte this week. Mrs. Eleanor Martin is at Del Monte and her gowns are attracting the great- est attention; and one of the most stunning matrons there is Mrs. Fred McNear. With her long earrings and colorful costumes she looks very Ori- ental, indeed.

All the "Hopkins clan," the mem- bers of which are exceptionally good looking, are at Del Monte. They in- clude the Gus Taylors, the Will Tay- lors, the Fred McNears and the Cheenie Cowdins. They have joined the party of Mrs. Walter Martin and the Eleanor Martins at Del Monte.

One of the very picturesque women at Del Monte is Mrs. Robin Hayne, who returned so recently from Eng- land, where the Haynes spent their honeymoon. One is rather sorry when so young and fascinating a matron chooses to smoke in public. Of course, everybody knows that the women who came over here to our golf tourna- ment frankly smoked in our Clare- mont club, and equally of course, a few, a very few women smoke at our Country club. But it is not "the cus- tom," and is not approved by our smart set or any other set, for that matter, on this side of the bay. But prominent women have not attracted attention to themselves by smoking in public. So young Mrs. Robert Y. Hayne at Del Monte makes a notable exception. She is the most charming young matron there, for she smoked last week before the entire polo field.

She carried a most gorgeous gold cigarette box, and during the polo game she smoked several cigarettes, quite unconscious of the sensation she was creating with her friend "My Lady Nicotine."

No other woman in Del Monte has followed her example and in this mat- ter she is likely to have the field all to herself.

Among the interesting people one sees at Del Monte this week are the R. P. Schwerins, the William Den- nings, the Dennis Searles, the Wick- ham Havens, the William Pierce Johnsons, the P. E. Bowles, the de Sabias, the Clem Tobins, the George Howards, Mrs. Eleanor Martin, the Athearn Folgers, Mrs. A. N. Towne, the Clinton Wordens.

Among the bright young girls at Del Monte this week are the Misses Josephine Johnson, Elsie Emerson, Helen Dunning, Ethel Crocker, Alida Keeney, Vera and Leontine De Sabia, Anna Peters, Emily Tubbs, Arabella Schwerin, Evelyn and Genevieve Cun- ningham.

Miss Jennie Stone is at Del Monte this week, and she is very popular there, especially with the young peo- ple. She does a great deal for her young nieces, the children of the Eg- bert and of the A. L. Stones

Arthur Goodall, with Dr. and Mrs. Charles Minor Cooper, (Ella Goodall), left for Del Monte this week, and they are planning to spend several days at that fashionable resort.

Jack Neville, who has been in Southern California, came up from Los Angeles this week, and is now at Del Monte. He is state golf cham- pion, and ready to defend his posi- tion.

William Garby, one of the best golf- ers of the Claremont Club, is also at Del Monte.

MRS. PHILIP E. BOWLES SUCCESSFUL HOSTESS.

The Garden Party given by Mrs. Philip E. Bowles, was one of the most successful affairs of last week. The weather was propitious, something unusual here when we have a garden party. The grounds at "The Pines" are ideal, for everything grows in Claremont, and for these grounds, beautiful plants have been brought from all quarters of the globe.

The flowers are superb,—one finds splendid masses of lilies, rhododen- drons, and flaming cannas and lovely walks reveal beautiful hill vistas.

Tea was served in an al fresco way on the verandas, and a large number of guests enjoyed the afternoon at "The Pines." Among those invited to the garden party were:

INFORMAL TEA TABLE SOCIAL INSTITUTION.

The informal tea table is coming to be a social institution on this coast as it is in the East, and the most en- joyable and favorite form of enter- tainment is the gathering together of a few friends for a game of bridge perhaps—or for sewing—or just for the ordinary call which ends with a cup of tea. The more informal the afternoon, the greater is its possibili- ties for enjoyment. And one of the fortunate things about it all is that it means great simplicity and trifling expense. It generally includes a cup of tea with biscuits and cakes, or an ice, and there are always flowers to be had from one's garden, and often they are the gift of friends. It is the great way of entertaining in Washington.

There have been various efforts on the part of at least one administra- tion in the past to entirely cut off the tea table at a cabinet woman's recep- tion, but it never succeeded. Even while the subject was being most ex- ploited the cheerful table sat in one corner, gleaming and attractive under dainty candle light, and laden with such refreshments as the hostess cared to give. It is a species of true American hospitality which probably always will live in Washington, and certainly through the present admin- istration.

Many prominent women shine as hostesses at afternoon teas, and there are homes in which the cup of tea is really a work of art—since the host- ess makes it herself, or else has her butler or maid perfectly trained.

There are certain homes in which tea is perfectly served—without anparently any trouble to the hostess. One feels the atmosphere in the air, and the temptation to linger long always awaits one Sometimes tea is served in an alfresco fashion that is altogether picturesque, for there have been developed on this side of the bay lovely gardens, and verandas and loggias quite after the European style.

Among the most successful tea hostesses on finds Mrs. Isaac Requa, who for over thirty years, has made friends very welcome at Highlands. How wise the Requas were in these pioneer days, and how well they built at Piedmont,—for even now,—with all the new homes on the high hill slopes, the Requa home has the most commanding situation. And it also has one of the most generous hostesses in the world, for from Highlands has come much of uplift, much that has made for the welfare of the city. "Chevy Chase" is the picturesque name of an ideal nook in the Requa grounds, and here on a lovely summer or autumn day, tea is served to Mrs. Requa's guests.

By the lakeside there are still some old-time nomes, such as the Kales, the Greenwood, the Burnham, the Crellin and the Schilling homes,—where afternoon tea is a feature of the social activities of the summer.

The R. G. Browns serve tea on a veranda overlooking a garden of wonderful quaintness, a dear old time garden, from which many flowers find their way to friends.

From the veranda in Mrs Havens' home, "Wildwood," one looks down the canyon, and across at the deeply wooded hill and some of the most interesting afternoon teas of the season have been served there. In all the many new homes, hostesses love to entertain their intimate friends. There is much to show them in the new home, and their friends rejoice with them in the happiness which it brings.

Mrs. Chabot will return to town in [illegible] will as usual be her guests, while among the well-known hostesses who make life bright for their friends are Mrs. Henshaw, Mrs. Walsh, Mrs. William Pierce Johnson, Mrs. A. A. Moore, Mrs. Willis F. Kelley, Mrs. MacDermot, Mrs. C. C. Clay, Mrs. T. C. Coogan, Mrs. E. B. Beck, Mrs. William Creed, Mrs. Matilda Brown, Mrs Wallace Everson, Mrs A. L. Adams, Mrs. Charles Lovell, Mrs. Minor Goodall, Mrs Charles H King.

CLUB DAYS ARE AT HAND.

Club days are upon us again, and many club activities are scheduled for September. In some ways, Oakland keeps well up in the procession of the club movement, notably in study pursuits and in civic affairs. Probably no civic club in the State is any stronger than that of Oakland, with its 750 members. It is doing admirable work in a careful, conservative, effective fashion.

But our clubs are lacking somewhat in the line of pure amusement, of real relaxation, all except the Home Club. It has never said much about dancing, but everybody dances, and the men have learned to enjoy the Home Club dinners immensely. And then there are the card games for those who enjoy a quiet game of bridge or of auction. Many of the men of the Home Club play an exceedingly good game of auction.

But many of the San Francisco Clubs are ahead in one way, that they definitely devote certain times to social reunions, which are after all, a most important feature of every club. Most women wish to study, but they want it to be in their own way, or by means of the civic clubs, which do the most important studying today.

Most of the leading clubs now set apart a day for social re-union, where there is sewing, fancy work, or where cards are played, and the card afternoon is the most enjoyable of any of the dates of the year. A hostess may entertain three of her friends in a most happy fashion, and the afternoon adds greatly to the efficiency of a club. To oppose card playing is now very old-fashioned, and one must keep up with the tide of affairs.

Queen Mary will not play cards, and she is getting to be a great trial [illegible] and which in fact would have been a kind of woman's Marlborough club.

The incident at the same time shows how, in spite of the queen's strong and constantly demonstrated objection, the society women of England are equally determined not to be deprived of their card playing.

A plan was formulated a short time ago to start a woman's club, the membership of which was to be restricted to past and present ladies of the various royal households in England. At first everything pointed to its immediate great success. Nearly every royal lady residing in England promised to join, and a strong body of ladies of the royal households immediately came in. The Queen wrote that she would join the club, but only on condition that there should be no card room in it.

This condition was made known and two weeks sufficed to show that impossible, for of the 130 ladies who formed the original nucleus of the organization 140 have now withdrawn their names. As a result the scheme has been abandoned.

That is what opposition does, when it is ill-advised. And after all, if one does not choose to play cards one's self, it is no reason why one should object to other people playing if they want to.

Queen Mary, by reason of her unconquerable aversion to card playing in any form by women, has prevented the establishment of a woman's club in London which, from a social point of view, by far would have outranked [illegible] existing woman's club in the city ishness a stumbling block along many lines.

CIVIC CENTER LUNCHEON TO CALL OUT CROWD.

The first large luncheon of the week will be that given by the Civic Center at the Ebell Club, and reservations are now being made for it. Among those who are actively planning the luncheon are Mrs. Cora Jones, Mrs. S. C. Borland, Mrs. R. S. Young, Miss Ethel Moore, Mrs. A. D. Thomson, Mrs. Nora Ryle, Mrs. John J. Valentine, Mrs. John R. Farrell, Mrs. Case, Mrs. Edgar Ormsby.

All the reservations have been taken and nearly 300 prominent women of the city will be present at the luncheon.

IS HONORED GUEST.

One of the most delightful affairs of the week was the large reception given by Mrs. John Albert Hamilton in honor of Mrs. James Telford Hamilton and Mrs. Paul Tietzen. Mrs. Hamilton entertained for her guests of honor on Tuesday, at her home, in Claremont Court, Berkeley. It is a very beautiful home, a charming environment for a delightful tea.

Mrs. James Telford Hamilton, who has spent some months in California, is leaving in the near future for her home in Pittsburg, and the reception gave her friends an opportunity of bidding her good-bye. She has been very popular here, and she has many friends here, since Oakland was formerly her home.

Mrs. [illegible] has recently taken possession of her new home, one of the exceedingly handsome homes near the Claremont Hotel, whose villa effect make it wonderfully artistic, and very noticeable, in a district of handsome homes.

The reception gave the opportunity to many people to meet Mrs. Tietzen, whose home is sure to be the center of much entertaining this winter.

The "at home" was planned along elaborate lines, and a large number of guests called during the afternoon to greet the hostess and her guests of honor.

Doctor and Mrs. P. L. Wheeler are planning to leave in the near future for the East, where they will remain for the greater part of the autumn. Mrs. Wheeler, who was formerly Miss Katherine Kirkham, has a great many friends over here, since the Kirkham home on Oak street, was formerly one of the most elaborate of the pioneer homes of our city.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Y. Campbell have returned to their home across the bay after an enjoyable trip to Lake Tahoe and to other points of interest in the Sierras. The Campbells are making their permanent home across the bay, though they are often over here, as their relatives are Mrs. Robert Watt and Miss Jessie Campbell.

She is expecting her son-in-law and her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Kirk Albert, (Florence Whittell), who will spend the winter in California. McKee, has been very ill this summer, and was not able to be, as usual, at the Lake. M. and Madame Lanel, (Amy McKee), are spending the summer on this coast. They are guests of the McKees, and of the Blacks, and before they leave for the East, they will be entertained by Mrs. Henshaw at Santa Barbara.

The Lanels make their permanent home in New York where Mons. Etienne Lanel is the consul-general for France.

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

Mrs. Charles Philip Boone, a bride of the season, who was Miss Eleanor Benedict Smith before her marriage a short time ago, left this week for a short visit to Reno and Virginia City, Nevada. She will return the early part of next week. Mrs. Boone is one of the younger matrons in East bay society and has many friends in the bay region.

Miss Dorothy Taylor, whose photograph is reproduced in the Meddler today is one of the most beautiful and charming girls in local society. She is a sister of Miss Mildred Eloise Boyne, whose engagement to Charles C. Kutz, son of Rear-Admiral George Kutz, U. S. N., has just been announced. Both girls are frequent hostesses at their residence in Vernon Heights.

Another reproduction in the Meddler is that of Mrs. Charles Teague, (nee Marguerite Butters), whose marriage was a social event a short time ago at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco. The wedding was one of the most brilliant affairs that has been listed in the social calendar for many seasons. Mr. and Mrs. Teague are now traveling and will not return for some time, as they will make their residence in Fresno, where Teague has large business interests.

Miss Helen High, formally announced her engagement at an affair last week over which her mother, Mrs. William High, presided as hostess in honor of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Ralph Brooks High, to George S. Daniels, son of G. B. Daniels of this city. Miss High is one of the most charming and accomplished girls among the younger set besides being one of our most delightful hostesses. As yet there has been no date set for the wedding and a number of pretty affairs are being planned for the young bride-elect.

CALIFORNIANS LINGER IN FOREIGN CLIMES.

Many Californians still linger abroad. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Templeton Crocker are sailing this month for America, and they will be met by Mr. and Mrs Irwin, Mrs. Crocker's parents. The latter are very devoted to the Crockers, and consequently they were very delighted at the opportunity which offered of buying a country estate near them. They purchased "The Crossways," the country place of the Carolans near Burlingame. The Carolans wanted larger grounds, so they, in their turn, will have a country estate of at least 100 acres.

From England comes news of the McNears, who are spending the summer and autumn in London. Mr. Hutchins and Miss Elizabeth McNear will be married on October 10 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Rickard in London. Mrs. McNear and her daughter are now guests of Mr. and Mrs. Rickard. The latter, who was formerly Adele Church, is Mrs. McNear's niece.

Mr. Hutchins is a former Californian, and a very successful mining engineer. His work will be for some time in Russia, so he will establish a future home for his bride in St. Petersburg.

The Rickards have met many delightful people in London, and [illegible] able entertaining.

Dr. and Mrs. Craig of Arizona and Mrs. W. E. Dargie are now in San Sebastian, Spain. They are planning an extensive motor trip in that picturesque country, and their expedition will be all the more enjoyable

Mrs. Dargie speaks the language fluently.

Mrs. C. C. Clay is planning to leave Oakland next week, for a long trip which will be practically a tour of the world. "Level Lea" will be closed, and Mrs. Clay is planning to be away over a year. Her travels will include a trip to the Orient, and she will spend part of the coming season in fascinating and picturesque Egypt.

Mrs. Clay will be greatly missed during her long absence by many warm friends, and by the members of the large family circle.

LAWRENCE REQUA TO ATTEND EASTERN SCHOOL.

Many of the young people after a delightful summer with relatives, are to return to school, now that September days mark the opening in the East of many of the fall terms.

Among those who will go East to school this year is Lawrence Requa, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark L Requa. He was East during the summer, and returned so strong, and well, and active, that his family were surprised.

Mrs. Isaac Requa gave a dinner on Friday evening at Highlands, in honor of her grandson, Lawrence Requa, who leaves for school in the East in a few days. It was a family dinner, and among the young guests were Lawrence, Amy and Alice Requa, and Amy and Sally Long.

Mrs. Requa is very fond of her grandchildren, and she makes their lives very happy, in planning many bright gatherings for them, and for their young friends.

MRS. EDGAR BISHOP IMPROVES IN HEALTH.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bishop have spent the entire summer at Ben Lomond, and to the joy of her friends, Mrs. Bishop has greatly improved in health. Dr. and Mrs. Alderson, (Cordelia Bishop), spent part of the summer at Ben Lomond. The Bishops were among the first to discover the beauties of the Santa Cruz mountains, and their Ben Lomond home was one of the first established there. They enjoy their mountain home quite as much in the winter as in the summer. They always entertain many friends in a most charming way, in their lovely home at Ben Lomond.

A party of friends among whom were Mrs. C. B. Beans, the Misses Beans, and Miss Caroline Little, the well known singer, have just returned from a most delightful holiday outing. They planned an itinerary which many would do well to copy in summers to come.

Their trip took them first to the beautiful Klamath Lake region of Southern Oregon. They went first to Pelican Bay Lodge on upper Klamath Lake. It was formerly called Harriman Lodge as Mr. Harriman bought it for a hunting lodge. It has a most wonderful forest covering the mountains back of it, and in front are lovely meadows which slope to the broad, slow flowing river. Fishing is good, and the place is a hunter's paradise in duck season. From there one goes across the lake to Eagle Ridge Tavern, which is all built of logs, and has a magnificent location and view. One can come back to Sacramento as did these travelers, and go on to Placerville, and up the beautiful road to Lake Tahoe. On the way, one may stop at Strawberry Valley.

Miss Little has returned home, and will resume teaching in her home studio, and two days in the week in San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Walter Scott have closed their camp, picturesque "Eagle's Nest," on the Russian river, and with their daughter, popular Miss Adele Scott, have returned to town. They entertained many friends this summer in their perfectly appointed camp.

Among those who prefer the mountains in September are Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Hawley, (Harriet Meek). They are planning to leave in a few days for an extended motor trip in the mountains, and they will spend some time at Tahoe, and at other noted resorts in the Sierras.

MRS. M. L. FAILOUTE WILL BE LOCAL VISITOR.

Her husband, Mr. Watson, made many friends during the stay here last winter. The Watsons make their permanent home at "Artesare Farm," a very picturesque and beautiful plantation in Mississippi. Mrs Lawson Adams (Hazel Curtiss), and her little boy, have gone to Southern California, where they will spend the winter. Master Adams, who is a very fine child, is to go to school, and his mother is planning to be near him. There is no truth in the rumor circulated this week concerning reconciliation between Mr. and Mrs. Lawson Adams. The separation was a matter of due deliberation, and was effected solely because of incompatibility—and the firm belief—that the young people would be much happier apart. Mrs Adams has her little son to whom she is a most devoted mother, and she is giving him all her attention at present.

Mr and Mrs Gilbert Curtiss, who have spent several months across the bay have returned to their East Oakland home.

The factory itself is to be architecturally beautiful and ideal conditions, according to Eisenhouth, will prevail.

The factory owner has invented a noiseless engine, which he claims will revolutionize the automobile industry, as well as the aeroplane world. This will be part of the new auto.

Stafford and taken into his house, later having been removed to her own home. The automobilists left the scene of the accident without revealing their identity.

Dr. Van Orden is able to tell of the accident today. She says that she was driving north on Chestnut street and that the automobile was proceeding east on Santa Clara avenue at a fast rate. The driver, in an endeavor to avoid a collision, attempted to swing his machine beside her buggy and into Chestnut street. The speed at which he was traveling prevented the successful accomplishment of his endeavor and the automobile struck the buggy, overturning it, both vehicles crashing into an iron and concrete electrolier on the corner and demolishing the electrolier.

Mrs. Van Orden was thrown to the ground and was rendered unconscious. One of the women of the automobile party was cut by flying glass when the wind shield of the machine went to pieces. The driver did not stop longer than necessary to back his machine away from the wreckage and get under way. The automobile was a Stanley steamer, but its identity has been a complete mystery since the accident.

SAYS HIS WIFE POISONED FOOD

So Spouse Declares and Alameda Man Is Charged With Insanity.

ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—John Pearson, an aged man, residing at 2113½ Lincoln avenue, was taken into custody early this morning and booked at the local police station on a charge of insanity. The complaint was sworn to by Mrs. Pearson, who charges that her husband has refused to eat, he declaring that she is trying to murder him through the agency of poison placed in his food. She says that following these declarations her husband becomes violent and abusive and she fears that he will kill her.

Some time ago there was trouble in the Pearson family, the aged man deeding to a granddaughter, Mrs. M. Pazzani, his Alameda property. Mrs. Pearson protested against the transfer of the property and a suit is now pending in the Superior Court, instituted by Mrs. Pearson against Mrs. Pazzani for the recovery of the realty.

Mr. and Mrs. Pearson have been married for twenty years, both having been married before.

Pearson was turned over to the receiving hospital today and an examination as to his sanity will be held.

EXPLAINS SCHOOL TAX CONFUSION

City Attorney of Berkeley Says County Supervisors Should Make Levy.

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—The position of the city councils of this and neighboring cities in refusing to levy a tax for grammar school funds is set forth in a statement which City Attorney R. C. Staats has given out. The question could not be questioned as to legality, but a council-levied tax for this purpose could be so questioned. He also finds what he terms common-sense reasons why the tax should be levied by the supervisors. Staats' statement follows:

"There seems to be a general misunderstanding of the points involved in the controversy regarding the levying of the tax for the public schools and out of which the action of the Board of Education petitioning the Supreme court for writ of mandate has arisen [illegible] payers of Berkeley School District whether the tax is levied by the Council [illegible] Board of Supervisors as far as the amount of tax that must be paid is concerned. If either body should levy a tax sufficient to raise the amount estimated by the Board of Education to be necessary, the result to the taxpayer is the same.

"There is no question, whatever, if the tax is levied by the Board of Supervisors, as to its legality. A grave question arises, however, as to whether it would be legal if levied by the Council, and, in case the tax was illegal, a suit to restrain the Council from collecting the tax could be brought, and the schools would then be actually deprived of the additional amount necessary to maintain them properly.

"But outside of the legal questions involved is a matter of common sense. The tax should be levied by the Supervisors for several reasons. It has been said that the Supervisors should not levy this tax, because they would have no control over the money. For the same reason, if the Council levies the tax, it has no control over the money. The Board of Education alone would have the right to use money so raised and draw warrants upon the fund.

COUNTY HAS LEVIED TAX.

"For several years the Supervisors have levied this tax. Following the usual custom, the Board of Education this year made application to the Supervisors in the same manner as it had formerly done, and at the time that the Berkeley tax levy was about completed, notice was served upon the Council that the Supervisors would not levy the tax. The law provides that the Council shall levy the tax assessment for Berkeley. A portion of Berkeley School District lies outside of the city limits of the city of Berkeley, and the law provides that the assessment upon the lands in said portion of the district shall be made by the County Assessor. There is only an inference as to whether the tax is to be collected by the City Tax Collector or the County Tax Collector. If collected by the City Tax Collector, as was formerly done, it will be necessary for the city to pay out of its general fund to the County Assessor such amount as is asked by him for assessment roll the property in the outside district. The law provides that all moneys collected for the schools under the authority of the city shall be paid to the County Treasurer. The city, therefore is placed in even a worse position than that set forth by the Supervisors as their reason for not levying the tax, because it neither has control nor custody of the fund after being so collected. The taxpayers of the district outside of the city pay their taxes to the County Tax Collector, and would have no reason to pay taxes in the city except for a school tax levied by the city authorities. Heretofore they have paid all their taxes to the County Tax Collector, and if lawyers have difficulty in ascertaining the law is it not probable that the property of these people would be sold for the non-payment of taxes of which they have no knowledge, by reason of the technical nature of the law and the [illegible] policies regarding its levy. It cannot be that the power to levy this tax can rest in both the Board of Supervisors and the Council, for, if that were so, the Supervisors might first pass upon the question of the necessity of the tax, and, after they had refused to levy the same, the Board of Education might then have the right to apply to the Council of the city for the purpose of levying this tax, giving one body the power to overrule the discretionary acts of the other body.

ADDITIONAL EXPENSE.

"If the city were now to levy the tax, great additional expense would be entailed upon it for the reasons that I have already stated, and it would also be necessary to employ additional help in rewriting the tax bills, a portion of which had already been written prior to the time the Supervisors first intimated that they would not levy the tax, while the officers who do the work for the county have already in their possession all the data necessary to make the levy in the proper manner and collected the tax without any additional expense being entailed upon the county.

"The City Council has no objection to levying this tax and can see no reason why it should not do so, excepting for the legal points involved and the unnecessary expense that would be entailed upon the city and which need not be incurred if the work were performed by the county."

NEW CHARTER FOR CITY DISCUSSED

Council of Alameda, However, Fails to Come to Any Understanding.

ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—The members of the city council, sitting as a committee of the whole last night, argued for nearly two hours over the matter of calling a freeholders' election and succeeded in getting [illegible] The question came up when the budget of council expenditures was under consideration. Councilman E. J. Probst urged that the council act upon the advisory vote given by the electors recently, when the commission form of government was favored. He stated that he believed an election of a board of freeholders should be held in the near future so that a charter can be framed.

The majority of the members of the council seemed to be in favor of delaying the matter. Councilman Frank H. Bartabout $6000. He is in favor of commission form of government, he stated, but [illegible] would be given time to frame a charter. He suggested that the council appoint a commission to investigate the compiling of a charter, then the election of freeholders to whom the commission could report its investigations.

EXPENSE IN BUDGET.

Councilman Probst urged that the expense of elections be placed in the budget. He said that the money would not have to be spent at once and that the investigations could be held. If the matter is delayed too long, he declared, the charter cannot be ratified until the 1917 session of the legislature.

Henry Rosenthal, representing the local charter club, said that he heartily agreed with the suggestions of both Councilmen Bartlett and Probst, that there should not be haste and that the election expense should be placed in the budget.

Councilman Bartlett suggested that the present charter might be amended.

Rosenthal replied that he believed the people wanted the election of a board of freeholders and the compilation of an entire new charter. "Amendments would not prove satisfactory," he said, "as some would be passed and others rejected."

Green Majors declared that he believed that expense should not be considered, as the people voted for a commission form of government and that is what they want.

"Can we retain control of public utilities?" urged Councilman Bartlett.

"We cannot," interjected Councilman G. W. Stewart. "As soon as the present charter is surrendered we would give away to the state all our former rights. I think that we should amend the charter and save this $6000 in expenses."

MIGHT RECOVER RIGHTS.

City Attorney Samuel Poorman Jr. stated that he believed the city would surrender its state-given rights if a new charter is adopted, but that it could recover these rights by the ratification of the new measure.

The city attorney was asked whether one of the elections could be held concurrent with the state election in November, 1914. He said that under the present law, which will be amended at the next Legislature, the election would have to be either special or at a general municipal election. The next municipal election is in April, 1915. The city attorney declared that the ratification of the charter could be held at this time, and that there would still be time for the 1915 legislature to ratify the measure. This would save the city $3000, he said.

SOCIETY MAIDS TO DON MALE GARB

Piano Club Women Will Produce Sketch With Masculine Roles.

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—Society maids and matrons of this city are to don masculine garb in several of the roles of the skit which the Piano club is to give as its jinks feature next Saturday evening. Very little about the play has been disclosed to prospective guests, who will be limited to the women folk, by members of the club.

Miss Janet Torrey is, however, to assume the leading masculine role. She will be the hero-lover of the skit, while Mrs. C. W. Warfield is to be the heroine to receive her advances. Dainty, petite Miss Leontine Rickard will be the "naughty boy" of the sketch, and members of the club declared she will be most attractive in satin knickerbockers and silk hosiery.

Mrs. Mabel Crane, who wrote "A Crisis on Olympus," given last year by Town and Gown club, is the author of the sketch, which will be but a portion of an interesting program. Other members of the cast will be Mrs. James M. Pierce, Miss Carol Day and others.

Miss Bertha Brehm is president of the club. Mrs. Thomas Rickard, mother of Miss Leontine Rickard, is vice-president.

COMPANY TO CARE FOR PASSENGERS

Alamedans to Hereafter Have Special Train, Is the Report.

ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—A single car on the horseshoe loop from this city to Fruitvale station to accommodate all main line passengers bound to Alameda is the plan of the Southern Pacific to handle the traffic without exacting another fare and at the same time without issuing transfers to the cross-town line, which it is intended to maintain as a separate service, according to Attorney Howard K. James today. James states that his information comes from Assistant General Passenger Agent Wade of the Southern Pacific company.

Wade is also quoted as having told James that the company will make no resistance to the ordinance recently adopted by the Alameda council establishing the fare for school children on all railway lines at 2½ cents. Recently Railway allowed one of the conductors to be arrested in order to make a test case of the ordinance.

TURNER ESCAPES WITH WHOLE SKIN

Berkeley Commissioner Fears Martyrdom, But Is Cheered.

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—Commissioner of Works E. Q. Turner heaved one huge sigh of relief at the City Council meeting last evening in which his fellow members were ready to grant he was justified. It came as an incident to the consideration of the coaster ordinance which, though brief, was big with riotous possibilities.

The council recently had under consideration an ordinance barring boys' coasters from the sidewalks. Its passage was requested by a considerable number of citizens whose shins had suffered painful outrages and was opposed by an equal number of tender-hearted parents.

When the health board question had been stormily threshed out last evening a delegation arose and demanded to know of the council what had become of the coaster ordinance. The fathers, anticipating hot criticism for not having passed the ordinance, trembled in their chairs. The lobby was apparently ready for quick action. That it included the partisans of the ordinance the council had no doubt.

Commissioner Turner finally consented to be the martyr of the evening. He arose and said:

"I have to report for the council that the coaster ordinance was considered in committee of the whole and the council decided against its passage."

Then he sat hold on the council table and awaited the storm. It broke at once but it was a storm of applause and cheers.

"We're very glad to hear that," declared the feminine spokesman of the lobby. "We're from the mothers' club federation and we came to protest if you decided to pass it."

NO ACTION ON HEALTH BOARD

City Council Hears Numerous Arguments, But Makes No Changes.

BERKELEY, Sept. 6.—The City Council heard much discussion last evening on both sides of the petition for a reorganization of the Board of Health. It finally laid the matter over indefinitely.

Assemblyman George Gelder was spokesman for the petitioners. He declared the present constitution of the health board assisted the physicians locally in maintaining what he called the medical trust. He declared he had been instrumental in the recent legislature in blocking schemes aimed at the same end. He asked a broader representation on the board.

Dr. Allan F. Gillihan, president of the board, replied briefly to his critics. He called attention, in answer to a criticism by a petitioner of public health work, to the fact that the Panama zone had been made the healthiest place in the United States by a physician. He believed that only men skilled in the intricacies of disease and medicine were qualified to care for the public health.

Others who spoke were Dr. McCracken, Dr. J. T. Farrar, Dr. Lyman Allen, H. T. Walker, C. J. Wagener, Miss Whalen and others.

ALAMEDA AUTO ENGINE IS GIVEN A TRYOUT

ALAMEDA, Sept. 6.—Alameda's pioneer fire engine, which was wrecked in collision with a train of the north side electric line, has been repaired at the Alameda Garage and was given its first tryout on the road yesterday. According to the engineers of the fire department and the representatives of the garage, the engine is as good as new. It will now go into the paint shop, and will be ready for commission in about two weeks. The contract for repairing the engine was taken for $1000. The original price of the big machine was $6000.

Assistant Engineer Fred Wagner, who was driving the auto when the smash-up came and who was badly injured, has entirely recovered and has been for some time back at his post of duty.

In this manner Miss Schneider asks the mayor to assist in locating her sister, whose maiden name was Margaret Schneider. The matter has been referred to the police and an effort is to be made to locate the missing woman.

Anyone knowing of the whereabouts of Miss Schneider can notify the mayor and he in turn will inform an anxious sister.

BROKEN HEARTS MENDED

By LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

(Copyright: 1913: By Laura Jean Libbey.)

HEARTS may be attracted by assumed qualities, it has been said, but affections are only to be fixed by those that are

It seems easy for a pretty maid to captivate the fancy of a youth, but it cannot be said in truth that he is really in love with her. It is a long step from liking to love. With all of the impetuosity of youth he may have uttered fervid words of sentiment which she has put full faith in.

Many a woman has listened to words of love from the lips of a man when she knew that there was a bar to his affection.

Every woman knows that it is wrong to listen to tender words uttered by a married man. She is advancing into a path heavily placarded with signs which read: "Take care! Beware! He's fooling thee!" There is a bar to his affections—a wife whom he has promised to love and honor until time shall be no more with him.

This is the one insurmountable bar. There are others which a woman must ponder over. The stern father who has bade his son turn from one love to another of parental choosing is one. If a lover is found to be unworthy, has contracted the habit of drink, this should be a bar so high, so insurmountable, that no self respecting girl ought to wish to cross it. A man is what his habits make him; good of heart or evil to its core. The former invites true and steadfast love; the latter attribute should bar it.

Only the most headstrong of women would contemplate marriage with eyes open to the danger. There, too, are men who seem to be all that is worthy. Women who are thrown in contact with them find that they are not inclined toward love or marriage, though their hearts seem warm and kind. In many such instances some unknown sweetheart in the background is the bar to such affections. The man whose affections belong to one woman has neither eyes, ears or heart for another, no matter how many attractions she may possess.

There are many bars to a man's affections about which he does not talk the world into his confidence to explain. It is all sufficient as long as he understands his reasons. The man who is a rover a rolling stone, who finds it impossible to settle down and who would soon grow irksome at any cheerful fireside, has been his own architect in raising a bar so high that happiness never will be apt to surmount it.

Women should realize that there are no bars to the affections of Mr. Right when he comes along. Where great difficulties present themselves to balk love, all is not as it should be. While it is a fact that true love does not always run smoothly, yet it is not true that bowlders, hills and mountains should obstruct the path to bar the right of way.

In love, more than in anything else, the head as well as the heart should be consulted, and good judgment left to decide that which should make life's happiness or misery.

Every heart has at least one love in its lifetime. If that love is not returned it bars out the affection from loving elsewhere. It is a waste of tenderness and sentiment to pour forth love to one whose affection is in any way barred.

"SORE" AT HIM.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 20. I have been going with a French fellow, not steadily, but he always is at the dances that I go to, and he asks to take me home. I love this fellow dearly, but he's an awful tease; and he says he loves me. Now, we are 'sore' at each other because [illegible] I had a date with him. He and his boy friend and my girl friend and I met that night. My girl friend did not want to go with his friend. That night he told me to go with his friend and my friend went with him. And then we were 'sore' at each other. The following Thursday night I went to a dance and he came there and asked me for a dance. I would not dance with him at first, but after a while I did, and he asked me to take me home. I accepted. When going he told me that he could not help it, and he said he'd never do it again. I told him he'd never have a chance to do it again. Do you think it was right for him to do that? And do you think he loves me? Do you think it would be right for me to go with him if he asks me to? He's everywhere I go, and he doesn't speak to me any more, so do you think it would be right for me to speak to him first, or should he speak to me first? Is it right for me to keep company with a French fellow when I am Finnish myself? I would like to hear your advice, because I am heartbroken after that Thursday night when we parted, because I love this fellow dearly. I don't think it's right for him to take me home from all the places I go to and never ask me to go anywhere. So do you think it's right for me to go with him? Where do you think I should go to find a nice husband, as I'm anxious to get married. Miss M."

If that's the way you are going to treat the fellows, I am afraid you will never get married. You are selfish and jealous, I am afraid. The fellow acted perfectly right in ignoring you. You should have accepted his apology and then let the matter drop. As it was, he really had nothing to apologize to you for. You better try to cultivate a better disposition, or you will have few friends.

HIS LIFE THREATENED.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 18. I am keeping company with a widower of 27. He is upright and steady, and is making a name for himself in the world. I am very much in love with this fellow, and I am sure he cares a great deal for me, for he never keeps company with any other girl but me. He calls on me three times a week. My parents are willing for me to go with this young man, for he is a nice fellow and is well thought of by everybody. But what I want is your advice. Would you keep company with him? Everybody in our little town don't like to have me keep company with him. Now, do you really think he cares for me as he should? His life has been threatened several times in the last two months [illegible] coming out here to see me.

Now, I am very much in love with this fellow and it would almost kill me to have to part with him, for I have never loved anyone as I do him. Instead of the light-hearted girl I ought to be I will become a heart broken woman if I have to give him up. This is an important question. Will you help me to solve it? DELLA."

If you and your parents thoroughly approve of the young man I see no reason why you should listen to what the townspeople have to say. Pay no attention to [illegible] gossip. He must [illegible] or he would not call on you three times a week

FOLKS DID NOT LIKE HIM.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 18. I went with a young man one and a half years older than myself for several months, but last January I broke up with him. He treated me very nicely and I cared a great deal for him. I know he cared for me by the way he treated me. I told him I didn't want to go with him any longer, but I did not tell him why. He seemed to feel very badly about it, and asked me for reasons several times. The reason was that my folk did not like him. I don't know why they did not like him—they never told me why. I know that he is a perfect gentleman in every way. He called on me at least once a week, and each time after he had gone my folk would ask me to break up with him. They could never find fault with him, though. I want to go with him again. I think maybe in time my folk would change their minds about him. Would it be proper to write to him asking him to call on me? Or would you suggest that I ask him next time I see him? E. A."

You better not invite the young man to your home again if your parents object so strongly to him. They probably would only make it unpleasant for him. Why not try to find out just what the objection is and, if possible, help the fellow to overcome it, if you are very fond of him.

SHALL SHE MARRY HIM?

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 20, have been going with a young man of 22 for about a year. He is an ideal young man in regard to character and habits and is financially able to take care of a wife. Several months ago he proposed. Well, I have never felt anything more than friendship for the young man, and, of course, did not give him an answer. I have been thinking seriously about it ever since, but am still undecided whether to accept him, knowing I do not love him as he does me. Do you think I should marry him? I am considered pretty and have always been popular, which made me foolish when I was younger, but now I have come to my senses and find that popularity does not always make happiness. It has always been my greatest ambition to marry a true, noble man and have a lovely home, but since the chance has come I feel a hesitancy in answering. What shall I do? D."

If you do not love the fellow under no consideration marry him. Love alone is the foundation stone for a happy marriage. Without it marriage is a failure, no matter how financially fit the young man may be. Still, don't be expecting too much of your love affairs. Some girls have too romantic an idea of what love is.

THEY WERE LIKE LOVERS

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been married nearly seven years and we have one child—a boy nearly six years old—to bless our union. My wife and I during the first two years of our marriage life were like lovers. Our pathway during that period was one continual bed of roses. After the baby came all was different. Before that my wife suggested that no matter who corrected the child when he needed correction there was to be no interference, to which plan I heartily agreed. When my wife reprimands the child for doing something he should not have done and he comes to me for sympathy I turn him away, telling him to obey his mother, but let me correct the child when he deserves it and his mother glares at me awfully and humiliates me before the child. I realize that a child takes a certain amount of a mother's time, but the child is with her all day, and when I come home from my daily work and suggest playing a game of cards, or some little amusement, she has no time for me. I am of an affectionate nature and love my family. During the last five years my wife has never greeted me with a kiss upon my return home from my work at night. I always kiss her when I leave in the morning. I do not interfere with her household affairs, nor have I ever, since we have been married, questioned her for one moment about what she did with my weekly check which she receives. I never refuse her anything relative to the financial side. Occasionally I accuse her of not loving me, which she readily denies. She never makes an effort to be like we were before matrimony, and save that her nature is one that loves from the heart and not by demonstration. I don't agree with her, for she will love and kiss her baby boy a dozen times a night, when I don't even get a 'good night' kiss. Now, you may think I am inclined to be jealous—such is not the case. It pleases me to see such maternal affection, but don't you think that treating a husband in this manner will eventually discourage him and cause him to leave his fireside to seek more congenial companionship? I love my wife and boy dearly, but at times her coldness and indifference toward me cause me many unnecessary heartaches. I love my child very, very much, but his mother comes first. A."

I think if you were to talk the matter over with your wife in a perfectly calm, frank way you could win her over to your point of view. Tell her that her apparent coldness makes you most unhappy. Are you sure you are not just a bit jealous of the boy? I am sure [illegible] you tell your wife that her actions make you unhappy she will change.

"HE JAWED SO."

"Dear Miss Libbey: Last fall I got acquainted with a young fellow who came out here to teach school, and we kept steady company. My mother didn't care for him coming, but my stepfather would be mad for several days. Do you think I did right by going with him. I am 20. He never would let me go with young men. He would always stay at home and [illegible] would come. All of my friends said they didn't blame me for going. He wants to write to me when he goes home. Do you think it best to let him? He is a perfect gentleman, and always has treated me nice when we were out.

If he is a desirable young man, I see no reason why you should not go about with him. If your mother approves of him, I don't believe your stepfather's objections should be given much weight. Write to him if you would enjoy hearing from him.

MOTHERS' PENSION ACT AGENT IS BUSY

Mrs. Margaret Nesfield Hears Tales of Woe From "Widows."

Law Does Not Apply to Person Without Children Dependent on Them.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Miss Margaret Nesfield, in charge of the bureau through which relief is to be extended to needy mothers under the new state law, spent a busy day at the city hall yesterday receiving and listing applications [illegible] of the aid. During the day thirty applicants presented their requests, making a total of 250 to be investigated.

Only widows, not women whose husbands have deserted them, or who are missing from any cause, are eligible for relief under the law, and they must be citizens, residents of the state for three years and of the city for one. The children for whom they ask aid must not be over 14 years old.

One case brought to Miss Nesfield's attention was that of a grandmother, who urged her claim with gentle, modest persistence, and seemed to have much difficulty in understanding that the new law did not apply to her.

"You have no needy children looking to you for support, and you are not a mother, under the meaning of the act," was the explanation furnished her, but she did not seem to find it satisfactory.

"I'm a widow," she said, with gentle, pathetic insistence, "and I could not well be a grandmother without having been a mother, even if my own children are gone from me now."

This particular case, and others similarly ineligible for consideration under the new law, but meritorious, will be looked after through the juvenile court relief organization. It will be fully ten days before anything in the way of definite action can be taken on even the first of those cases properly before the bureau, as each must be fully investigated before a report upon it is made to the supervisors, with whom will rest the ordering of relief payments.

MISS WILSON GOT THE SAMPLES WANTED

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Miss Eleanor Wilson, daughter of the President, made a flying trip to New York today and went shopping, and left for Athens, Pa., where she is to be a bridesmaid at the wedding of one of her schoolmates, Miss Nell Kintman, tomorrow.

While making her tour, Miss Wilson had a somewhat amusing experience. In one of the department stores she visited she asked to see different colors of chiffon, which she is to wear when she takes part in a play. Several shades were shown her, but she was not certain what color would be the most appropriate.

"May I have samples of these sent to my home and then let you know which one I want?" she asked the salesgirl.

The salesgirl held a long conference with the floor walker, and returned to tell Miss Wilson that she was very sorry, but it was against the rules to do that. [illegible] the courtesy could be extended if Miss Wilson's mother had a charge account with the store.

"What is you mother's name?" The salesgirl's voice had in it a little note of challenge.

"Mrs. Woodrow Wilson," answered the President's daughter, blushing slightly.

Instantly the store was a scene of excitement. Floor walkers, clerks and even managers flocked around and urged Miss Wilson to take the entire store if she wanted it.

"The chiffon will be enough," said Miss Wilson.

BRAVE GIRL DRAGS RESCUER FROM WATER

SAN RAFAEL, Sept. 6.—Miss Elvie Crane, a popular post-graduate student in the San Rafael High school, made a novel rescue near Bolinas yesterday when she saved John Crater, her sweetheart, from possible death by drowning when the latter plunged into the waters of the big lagoon to render like aid to her.

Miss Crane and Carter, with a dozen other members of the younger set, were "hiking" along the cliffs that skirt the lagoon, when the former lost her footing and slipped over the bluff into about three feet of water. Without stopping to take any soundings, Carter plunged headlong after his sweetheart and was stunned by striking his head on the rock bed of the lake. As he came to the surface the plucky girl caught hold of his coat and dragged him to the shore, where other members of the party lent a helping hand.

Miss Crane returned to her school work yesterday none the worse for her ducking, and young Carter, who is an employe of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, was able to resume his office duties in the afternoon.

TEACHERS MAY DRESS AS PLEASE, SAYS BOARD

STOCKTON, Sept. 6.—That the superintendent of the city schools has no concern with the manner in which the teachers dress or adorn themselves is the position taken by the board of education, as evidenced by the board's refusal to accept the resignation of Miss Eulula Moore, the English teacher whom Superintendent A. Williams criticised for wearing diamonds and attiring herself in modish gowns.

SAN FRANCISCO COUPLE SECRETLY MARRIED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—A carefully [illegible] el Charles and R. F. Longwill of San Francisco, and the little blind god was discovered yesterday when it became known that the two young people had secretly married in this city and had today taken an early train to San Pedro to catch a steamer for Seattle and Canadian ports.

The marriage is the culmination of a romance begun in the bride's school days. She had come to Los Angeles for a visit and he insisted that she should return as his bride. They telegraphed for her mother and the service was performed in the Central Presbyterian church in the presence of a few close friends and relatives.

As Miss Charles, the pretty bride, was known in San Francisco as "the pet of the St. Francis Hotel." Longwill is a traveling engineer for the General Petroleum Company.

MARY PICKFORD NEAR DEATH AT HOSPITAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Mary Pickford, who played the leading role in the "Good Little Devil" after being taken from the movies by David Belasco, is still in a dangerous condition at the Polyclinic Hospital, where she was operated on for appendicitis late Thursday night. While not yet past the crisis, there has been a decided turn for the better, and according to the doctor in charge, her condition late last night showed great improvement.

Immediately following the operation Miss Pickford was so critically ill that it was feared she would not recover.

BARONET'S SON WINS AN AMERICAN GIRL

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 6.—Miss Isabel Valle of St. Louis yesterday announced her engagement to James Hope-Nelson, eldest son of Sir William Hope-Nelson, an English baronet. The wedding will take place here October 1 and the young people will make their home on the family estate at Moreton-in-Marais, Gloucester, England.

Miss Valle made a trip to Alaska this summer as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Ingram Drew. James Hope-Nelson, who had met her, asked permission by wire to join the Alaska party and arrived in San Francisco just in time to board the northbound steamer.

WOMEN TURN DOWN NAME "WOODROW CITY"

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Women of Spring Road and Villa Park, two communities on the Aurora, Elgin and Chicago electric road southwest of Elmhurst, arose in their might at the polls and prevented the name of Woodrow from gracing the map of Illinois yesterday.

The proposition at the special election to incorporate both communities into the village of Woodrow, named after President Wilson, was defeated by a vote of 199 to 76. Ninety-two women voted, most of them against the proposition.

RAGPICKER IS COUNT, HE SAYS; ASKS TITLE

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Vincent [illegible] Brooklyn, has applied to the Italian government for official recognition of himself as Count d'Ambrosio.

D'Ambrosio came to this country 40 years ago. He is now 60 years old, and has built up a ragpicking business that has made him wealthy. As a boy his father told him that he was of royal blood and heir to a title, but he did not investigate this until recently, when his family tree was traced back 700 years.

Sweet Bells in Tune on Knee Jangle for Pretty Actress

MISS MINNIE RHODES AND HER BELLED KNEELET. SHE HAS MUSIC WHEREVER SHE GOES.

A peculiar light spot, wandering in an irregular manner along the Oakland Bank of Savings building, on Twelfth street, yesterday, caused pedestrians to stop, look and wonder. It jigged back and forth and finally disappeared as it reached the Broadway end of the building. It was then that the people on the street got the explanation. Across the street was a woman, small and pretty, with a slit skirt, and, showing through the slit and flashing as the sunlight struck it, a band of gold. Little bells hanging from it tinkled as the fair wearer walked along.

Thus did the new "kneelet," latest in feminine foibles, make its first appearance in Oakland. Miss Minnie Rhodes, an actress, was the wearer. The new departure in jewelry is a band or garter or gold fitting just below the knee and hung with little silver bells. It just shows through a slit skirt; that is, one where the slit is high enough or the "kneelet" low enough—a matter of careful mathematical calculation on the part of its fair wearer—and sparkles alluringly as the wearer trips along the street.

Miss Rhodes secured the jewel-studded garter in Philadelphia, where she appeared while on the Pantages circuit, and declares that "kneelets" are all the rage in the former city of the Quakers. It is one step more daring than the golden anklets of last year, and, she declares, serves a utilitarian purpose. She isn't referring to the bells, even though they might warn careless autoists of the pedestrian's approach—but to the fact that a little purse may be hung from the new ornament, or a powder puff, or maybe even a watch!

Miss Rhodes is a California girl and is known to theatergoers as "The California Poppy." Since she has appeared on the street with her new ornament several other women have demanded them of local jewelers.

BISHOP MORELAND EXPLAINS THAT SUFFRAGE IS SUCCESS

SACRAMENTO, Sept. 6.—Asking for the results attained by equal suffrage in California a number of titled women of England have written to Bishop William Hall Moreland of the Sacramento diocese of the Episcopal church. The letters requesting the information were accompanied by a note of approval from the archbishop of Canterbury.

Among the noble women who made the request are: The Duchess of Bedford, the Marchioness of Salisbury, Countess Waldegrave, Lady Balfour, Lady Willoughby de Broke, the Countess of Selborne, Miss Violet Markham, Lord Haldane's daughter and Miss Balfour.

In his reply Bishop Moreland wrote that suffrage has brought about a better legislature. He cited the defeat of Edward I. Wolfe of San Francisco, a candidate for re-election to the senate, as a result of the adoption of women's suffrage.

To Look Well in Summer

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

DRESS as cool as possible. Avoid iced drinks. The lack of sleep, fresh air, digestible food is responsible for many a sullen countenance and whiny disposition. Humor the eyes, likewise cherish them, if you wish them to be bright and lastingly strong. Rich foods and fear of water are potent causes for a muddy skin.

Don't blink, wiggle, frown or pose if you would keep your face pleasant to look upon and free from lines. Keeping the hair and scalp with the same care proves the hair and saves money on scalp specialists.

Water, water everywhere is a good slogan for the girl who would keep young and good looking. Be as generous with it internally as externally, and your skin will benefit and your ill feelings disappear.

Know your good points and make the best of them instead of worrying over your defects.

[illegible] keep you from pondering over your woes, which is ruinous to beauty and health.

Go in for daily walks in the open air. Make a vow to let no night catch you unexercised. You will feel and look better for it, and those who must live with you will know you to be better and more agreeable. Do not humor your evil traits. Remember, a bad temper, jealous morbidness, suspicion and treachery are fatal to good looks and will eventually cost one her friends.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

MRS. Y. B: In answer to your request I shall print the formula for reducing flesh by using Epsom salts. Take half a pound of Epsom salts and dissolve in a pint of rain water, then shave one [illegible] and one half bars of white soap and dissolve in half a quart of boiling water. When partially cool, beat in the Epsom salt solution. This preparation must be massaged briskly into the fleshy parts of the body and allowed to dry on the skin. In the morning wash off. Continue treatment until [illegible] disappears. Be careful of your diet and take plenty of exercise. Eat plenty of green vegetables, but do not eat rich pastries, greasy foods, or sweets.

[illegible] Breathing exercises and massage are helpful for rounding out a thin neck. Deep breathing will fill out the hollow about the collar bones. Before massaging the throat wash it thoroughly with a good soap and warm water. Rinse thoroughly and lay a small towel or wet cloth wrung out in warm water about the throat. As it cools apply another. Repeat for five minutes, then massage, starting at the base of the throat and working upward and around, describing small circles. Both hands may be used, but the right one is more satisfactory when doing it yourself. Be sure to go well up under the ears. There are almost always hollows there. Use the tips of the fingers only and use gentle but firm pressure. Use a nourishing skin food [illegible] massaging. If you will send me a stamped addressed envelope I shall gladly send you a formula for an excellent skin food.

WILMA: Here is a splendid [illegible] for expanding the chest and filling out the hollows of the neck and throat. Rise upon the tips of the toes, inhaling a deep breath, hold the breath, and throw it forcibly against the muscles of the throat and neck while you count fifteen, then exhale forcibly with open mouth and come down upon the heels. At first it may be difficult to hold the breath so long but begin with five counts and extend it gradually. Repeat ten times night and morning when there are no restraining bands about the body. You will see a change within two or three weeks. Try this in front of your mirror and see how it expands the throat.

J. L.—There is nothing that will restore gray hair to its natural color except a dye, and I would not advise you to have your hair dyed. Scalp massage will give your hair more life. If it is dead looking the scalp probably has adhered to the [illegible] I would advise you to give your scalp about ten or fifteen minutes' massage every night. The hair will at once respond and become full of life. I shall be glad to send you directions for scalp massage upon receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

NANNIE—Olive oil taken every morning half an hour before breakfast is good for removing liver spots and otherwise clearing the complexion. Take a teaspoonful of the best olive oil before breakfast and the same quantity half an hour after the latest meal. You must, however, persist in this treatment to get the desired results. The unsweetened juice of a lemon in a glass of water every morning before breakfast is also beneficial for this purpose. Drink plenty of cool, not iced, water between meals. Proper facial massage daily with a good skin food will help to eradicate wrinkles. I shall send you the formula for skin food with complete instructions for facial massage if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

Y. W. C. A. WILL TEACH NEEDLE WORK

Among the arts and crafts to be taught in the educational course of the Young Women's Christian Association will be the study of needlework. The manual branches will include tooled and modeled leather, stenciling and basketry, which will be in charge of Miss Nellie P. Jacobson, director of the manual training in the local public schools. The instruction in the respective studies will commence September 15 and will continue three months. Mrs. A. G. Labaree will conduct the needlework course, which will include smocking, tatting, embroidery, the making of lingerie, bridal showers and layettes. Plain sewing, dressmaking and millinery will be an interesting part of the work. Classes in the languages, literature and music will form a section of the curriculum.

The registration in the fall courses will be very heavy this year.

BOY SLEEPS FOR MONTH AS PHYSICIANS MARVEL

SAN JOSE, Sept. 6.—Twelve of the most prominent physicians of San Jose have been endeavoring for nearly a month to awaken Wright Keeble, nephew of R. P. Keeble, a wealthy farmer.

Young Keeble, who is 18 years old, wandered from his home, three miles north of the city, about a month ago. He was discovered two days later, hidden in a haymow, snugly wrapped in a blanket, with several boards piled upon his body.

His uncle, failing to arouse him from his stupor, summoned the family physician, Dr. H. C. Brown. After two days he called into consultation several other San Jose physicians, but they were unable to determine what caused the lad's condition, and are still puzzled.

SURVEYORS FAIL TO ASCEND ST. ELIAS

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 6.—Members of the United States Alaska boundary survey, led by C. W. Baldwin, made an attempt during the summer to reach the summit of Mount St. Elias, 18,000 feet high, as part of their survey work, and attained a height of 16,000 feet, when they were caught in a terrific snowstorm and compelled to turn back.

Plans were made last year for the ascent of the great mountain as a proper climax of the long work of the survey. The surveyors returned to Seattle.

COUNCIL TO ACT ON REPORT AGAINST REES HARBOR PLAN

COMMISSIONERS TO PASS RESOLUTIONS BASED ON ENGINEERS' FINDINGS

City Officials Study Question Prior to Setting Forth Their Official Attitude on Issue

CITY Commissioners are giving careful study to the report submitted by Col. W. H. Heuer and City Engineer Perry F. Brown regarding the Rees harbor plans, as the report will be made the basis of resolutions to be passed by the Oakland City Council setting forth the attitude of this city concerning the harbor project outlined by Colonel Thomas H. Rees of the San Francisco Bay Harbor Line Board for the United States War Department. The resolutions to be passed by the City Council must be based upon an exhaustive survey of the harbor situation in order that the stand taken by Oakland may be reasonable and amply justified by the facts when it is presented to the War Department engineers.

The report of Colonel Heuer and City Engineer Brown is given in full in order that citizens may study the two rival plans presented by the city of Oakland and by Colonel Rees of the harbor line board. The Colonel Rees plan is declared by the report to be detrimental to the harbor development of Oakland.

The report follows:

To the City Council, Oakland, California. Gentlemen: At your request, with a view of determining which is the most suitable and satisfactory plan for a harbor in front of that part of Oakland situated immediately north of the Southern Pacific company's mole and terminating at the Oakland-Emeryville boundary line, we have carefully considered several projects which have been submitted, and from these and such other information as has [illegible], we have reached a conclusion, as fully set forth in the following report:

COLONEL REES' PROJECT.

Colonel Rees, corps of engineers, United States army, has prepared a project for a harbor extending from Point Richmond on the north, past Richmond, Albany, Berkeley, Emeryville and terminating at its southern end in front of Oakland, nearly 10 miles in length. At a public hearing held before the Oakland Chamber of Commerce in Oakland several weeks ago, at which representatives from the various localities above referred to—and who are interested in the proposed harbor—were present, the plans were exhibited and explained, were received with satisfaction and were very favorably commented on generally by all who had anything to say on the subject. More than 100 persons were present at this meeting.

The city of Oakland is especially interested in the development of a plan for and the construction of a harbor in front of its own city, and while it would gladly co-operate with the other municipalities above referred to for a harbor common to all, it is naturally desirous that such portion of the harbor as exists in front of Oakland shall be the best that actual existing conditions will permit of at a reasonable expenditure of money and the best that can be completed in a reasonable time to meet the present and prospective requirements of commerce.

PART IS PRACTICAL.

That part of Colonel Rees' project in front of Oakland considered as a part of the entire project extending from Oakland to Richmond is admittedly practical, useful and economical, but it requires the removal of the Key Route pier which forms a very essential and necessary part of another project for a harbor in front of Oakland which was submitted by the city engineer of Oakland several years ago, was approved, bonds authorized and issued, a bulkhead built, considerable dredging done, and, in fact, work on the new harbor as approved is fairly well advanced.

Colonel Rees' project will not interfere with such work as the city has already done on its harbor, but in the removal of the Key Route pier it does interfere with the completion of the city's project in accordance with permits granted by the United States government for a solid fill about two miles in length along this pier. A contract for this work has been let, is in progress and will be completed early in 1914.

It also interferes with a franchise granted by the city, for a valuable consideration, to the owners of the Key Route pier to build wharves on and against the south side of this pier, one of the items in the consideration being that at the expiration of the franchise the pier, wharves and all improvements thereon shall revert to the city without cost.

NINETEEN PIERS AND SLIPS.

A plan of Colonel Rees' project, so far as it applies to Oakland, is herewith marked Exhibit A. The plan consists of a series of 19 piers and slips, 16 of which are parallel to each other, then owing to a change of direction in the bulkhead line, the three most northern piers and slips, while parallel with each other, are not parallel with the first 16 piers above referred to. The piers are each 200 feet in width, their lengths vary from 600 feet to 1200 feet, the slips between the piers have a uniform width of 250 feet.

A pier with several ferry slips is at the extreme southern end of the proposed harbor. The aggregate length of the piers is about 21,150 feet, which makes the average length 1113 feet. The approach at the southern end of the harbor is to be a dredged channel 1500 feet wide at its mouth, gradually narrowing in width to 1200 feet at a distance of 9600 feet inside the mouth, and thence continuing 1200 feet wide for five miles or more past Emeryville, Berkeley and Albany, until a proposed harbor at Richmond is reached.

The depth of this proposed dredged channel is not shown on the plan, but for purposes of calculation and comparison with other projects, we have assumed a depth of 30 feet at mean lower low water. That part of this project now under consideration in front of Oakland requires about 24,000,000 cubic yards of dredging; this, at 10 cents per cubic yard would cost $2,400,000, and assuming the cost of the piers at $1.50 per square foot, deck measurement, they would cost $6,345,000, or the roughly estimated cost of dredging and piers would amount to $8,745,000.

The length of the bulkhead from which the piers would start is about 10,200 lineal feet. The harbor room or area of the fairway outside of the pierheads would be about 341 acres. The greatest depth of this harbor room would be 1500 feet, in which distance vesels in entering or leaving a slip must maneuver and turn at practically a right angle.

The city of Oakland owns and controls along the bulkhead line for a length of 7300 feet (approximately) the waterfront on both sides of this line, therefore only 13 of the 19 piers above referred to would be owned by the city of Oakland; the other piers would be on property held in private ownership. The project would also require another change in the recently accepted and established harbor (bulkhead) line.

PROJECT OF CITY ENGINEER.

This project is for a harbor in front of the bulkhead line between the Southern Pacific company's mole and the Key Route pier. It is shown on part of plan marked Exhibit B and covers only so much of the area as is south of the Key Route pier. The plan shows 18 piers having a length of 15,500 feet, or an average of 861 feet length per pier. Each is to be 150 feet wide while the slips alongside are each 250 feet in width.

Some of the piers abut against the Southern Pacific mole, six of them each 1000 feet in length abut against the stone bulkhead on the established bulkhead line, the others abut against the Key Route pier. The area in this basin included outside the bulkhead line, between the mole and the Key Route pier and inside a line drawn from the outer end of the mole to the outer end of the Key Route pier is about 450 acres, to obtain a depth of 30 feet over this area requires the removal of about 19,000,000 cubic yards of material by dredging; this at 10 cents per yard would amount to $1,900,000, and the piers at $1.50 per square foot, deck measurement, would cost $5,487,500, or a total of about $5,-387,500.

The advantages of a harbor constructed on this plan are that a very considerable part of the expense of construction (dredging and pier work) would be borne by the owners of the Key Route pier. The piers and slips are of considerable length and sufficient width and so situated that any vessel entering the basin or harbor can readily enter or leave any slip and have ample room to maneuver or turn without danger of a collision. The least width of entrance to this harbor is 2160 feet. The harbor room outside the pierheads covers an area of about 350 acres.

No change is desired or required in existing harbor lines. It utilizes the Key Route pier which was built about ten years ago and over which thousands of people travel daily in electric cars. The harbor is compact but sufficiently large, with the piers contemplated, to handle readily nearly 4,000,000 tons freight per year.

CONTROLLED BY CITY.

The entire waterfront, both in front of and behind the bulkhead line, is owned and controlled by the municipality. Its commercial capacity can be increased when necessary by lengthening some of the piers or by adding additional piers and slips to either or both the mole and the Key Route pier. It costs less money to make the harbor, and, when funds are available, it can be completed in less time than any other project which has been considered. Some of the work on this project, such as building a stone bulkhead, some dredging and wharfing, has already been done at the city's expense. In dredging the harbor, the dredged material would be pumped behind the bulkhead and make the reclamation of the submerged lands owned by the city. This would make the property commercially productive and of a value greatly exceeding the entire estimated cost of harbor construction. The harbor lines as now established in this locality, viz., the bulkhead line in the basin and the existing pier head line just outside the outer ends of the Key Route pier and the Long Wharf, should not be changed. If an additional pierhead line were established in the basin as was contemplated in Col. Rees' project at the outer end of the projected piers, it would prevent the construction of seven wharves against the south side of the Key Route pier and of one or perhaps more wharves against the Southern Pacific Co.'s mole.

EXTENSION PROJECT.

Whenever the commerce of Oakland exceeds or approaches the limits of the capacity of the harbor in the Key Route basin, additional harbor facilities can be had by dredging a channel or fairway on the north side of the Key Route pier and then constructing diagonal wharves or piers against the Key Route pier, as shown on "exhibit 'B'". Eleven such piers are shown on this exhibit and six additional can be built along the fill to the northward of the Key Route pier. These latter six piers, however, would be on property now held in private ownership. The total dredging required in this project will be about 24,000,000 cubic yards, estimated to cost $2,400,000, and the cost of the piers is estimated at $2,985,000, or an aggregate cost of $5,295,000. If the cost of this extension project be added to that of the basin project, the cost of the two would be $10,622,500, which is nearly $2,000,000 in excess of our estimated cost of dredging and piers of Col. Rees' plan. This excessive cost of the extension is due largely to the 20,000,000 cubic yards of dredging required to make the channel or fairway at the north side of the Key Route pier. This entrance channel, if made, could also be used as an entrance to so much of the harbor as Col. Rees has designed in front of Emeryville, Berkeley and Albany. The entrance on account of curvature or abrupt change of direction in front of Emeryville is less than ten cents per yard and some may cost more, depending on the character of material and the distance to which it has to be pumped.

As to the estimated cost of the wharves, good wharves can be built for $1.50 per square foot, deck area, but if built of reinforced concrete to be permanent with a minimum of cost for repairs or maintenance, such wharves would cost nearly $3.50 per square foot.

In estimating on Col. Rees' project, it will be noticed that his piers are 200 feet wide, while those in the other projects are but 150 feet wide. This necessarily makes the cost of his project per lineal foot of pier about 33 1-3 per cent more than the other piers. Had he used 150 feet wide piers in his project, about six additional piers could have been designated for the project in front of Oakland and would have made a much better showing in aggregate length of piers and berth room for his project. However, the best width of pier is largely a matter of opinion. Many of the wharves in San Francisco have been only 80 feet in width. The average width of all her wharves today is hardly 100 feet; the newer wharves now building are generally 200 feet in width. In New York harbor the large piers in the Chelsea section, where the largest transatlantic steamers berth, are from 100 to 125 feet wide; the Bush docks in Brooklyn, the finest in the harbor, are only 150 feet wide.

DATA IS TABULATED.

A comparison of some of the data of the several projects considered is tabulated herewith.

The harbor known as the Key Route Basin is owned by the City of Oakland and its development can be carried on independent of any other municipality or private interest. On the other hand, the Colonel Rees project [illegible] of the original charter line of Oakland is on privately owned property, which no doubt will require years to acquire; while its passing through four more incorporated municipalities with their individual commercial ambitions will have a tendency to cause the work to be done with that lack of concentration and continuity at any particular locality necessary to develop a useful harbor.

Where harbors are designed by U. S. officials, if approved by Congress, the Government generally supplies liberal aid in their construction. The harbor in the Key Route Basin is precisely for the [illegible] designated by Government engineers, and in our opinion it would be perfectly proper to ask for and to expect the Government to aid in its construction.

After careful consideration of the several projects for a harbor for the western waterfront of Oakland, we believe the project known as the Key Route Basin to be the most suitable, and we therefore recommend its retention.

Respectfully submitted,

YAQUIS WARN AMERICAN SETTLERS

Indians in Sonora, Threaten to War on Colony of Foreigners.

Angry Over Land Distribution Made by Porfirio Diaz.

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 6.—The Yaquis of Sonora have begun to threaten Americans. Desertions of the Indians from the state troop ranks continue. The insurgent forces are retreating before a federal advance north of Guaymas.

This information reached the border here from independent American sources. It was reported that a notice to leave the country had been posted on property of the Richardson Construction Company, an American corporation, with holding in the Yaqui river district. The warning was signed by three Yaqui chiefs.

INSURGENTS RETIRE.

The insurgent state force retired today to Ortiz, leaving an outpost at Maytorena. This left the federals in full possession of Empalme and neighborhood. The government troops were reported to be moving slowly to the north.

But the internal troubles with the Indians of the insurgent ranks admittedly are more menacing to the state than the federal advance. The demand of the Yaquis for the immediate return of their lands taken from them during the presidency of Porfirio Diaz, has been repeated. Much of the former Indian reservations have been colonized by Americans. Desertions of the Indians continued.

ATTACK FEDERAL TROOPS.

Deserters recently attacked a train of state troops, killing 12 soldiers. The execution of a Yaqui leader for insubordination appeared to aggravate the trouble.

During former Yaqui uprisings there never has been hostility or harm to foreigners. The warning to the American company was the first on record it was said.

The Yaquis are the most warlike of the Mexican Indians and notorious for their cruelties when on the warpath. They are the Mexican relatives of the Apache Indians of Arizona.

Nineteen Mothers at Special Meeting

Important Civic Problems Are Discussed

REPRESENTATIVES OF MOTHERS' CLUBS, PRESENT AT YESTERDAY'S MEETING OF THE OAKLAND FEDERATION, AT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE BUILDING. LOWER (LEFT TO RIGHT) MRS. S. T. WHITE AND MRS. N. C. LANE. TOP (LEFT TO RIGHT) MRS. C. A. FLAVELL, MRS. C. R. SLATER, MRS. O. CHAMBERLAIN AND MRS. F. ESCHBACHER.

Nineteen mothers' clubs were represented at a special meeting of the Oakland Federation of Mothers' Clubs which met yesterday afternoon in the chamber of commerce building. Mrs. L. C. Grasser, president of the organization, acted as chairman of the session and introduced Christopher Ruess, probation officer, as the speaker. The municipal ownership of street railways and the project of the erection of the new detention home were discussed and without recording official action on the propositions, the delegates referred the issues to the mothers' clubs of this city for action and they will report to the federation for its approval.

Christopher Ruess explained that the plan for the new juvenile home emanated from the probation committee, which is working indefatigably for the institution.

The mothers stated that a variety of questions were called to their notice which they did not understand and announced that they preferred to have the matters thrashed out in the clubs before the federation acted upon the measure.

The municipal ownership problem was not thought to affect the federation, except very distantly, so it had no chance for indorsement until a campaign of education had been started. Even the proposal of Mrs. F. W. Hooper that the mothers do something to prevent the appearance of the slit skirt and the X-ray dress on the streets of the city, didn't raise a rippple.

Among those present were Mrs. E. E. Trowbridge, Mrs. A. K. McCluer, Mrs. S. T. White, Mrs. N. C. Lane, Mrs. L. C. Grasser, Mrs. Wm. Lever, Mrs. N. J. Herby, Mrs. C. A. Flavell, Mrs. A. R. Slater, Mrs. O. Chamberlin, Mrs. F. Eschbachar, Mrs. E. B. De Rome, Mrs. J. L. Hunt.

KILLED BY JAPANESE STUDENTS

Official of Nippon Dies From Effect of Sword Thrusts

Mortiaro Abe Is Slain in Front of His Home by Assassins

TOKIO, Sept. 5.—Mortiaro Abe, director of the political bureau of the Japanese foreign office, died today, the victim of unidentified assassins. His assailants, who are said to have been students, lay in wait for him in front of his house Thursday evening while he was at the railway station to meet H. Ijuin, minister to China, who had just been recalled from Peking.

Director Abe was attacked by two young men who ran out of an alley toward him. One seized him by the shoulders, while the other plunged a short sword into his abdomen twice. The assassins escaped in the darkness.

It was not thought at first that the director's wounds would prove fatal, for they were promptly dressed after passers-by had carried him to his home.

EXCITEMENT INTENSE.

Excitement is intense here, following the reports of the massacre of Japanese and the insult to the Japanese flag at Nanking, and there is much irresponsible clamor for drastic action against China, similar to the recent clamor against America.

The motive in the assassination of Director Abe may have originated in resentment of the policy of the foreign office in either or both of these matters. The foreign office officials in both cases have steadily adhered to a policy of calmness.

The student element, at whose door the assassination is laid, has been increasingly active in politics. Recently three students tried to see Baron Makino, minister of foreign relations, and submit to him a solution of the California land question. The sensational press has been attacking the foreign office on account of its Chinese and American policies.

MISTAKEN BY ASSAILANTS.

Another theory is that Director Abe was mistagen by his assailants for Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the Chinese revolutionary leader, whom he resembled. It was reported a month ago, soon after Dr. Sun Yat Sen's flight from China, that 100 assassins had been sent by the Chinese government to kill Dr. Sun, General Huang Sing and other Chinese revolutionary fugitives.

LOVE LETTER CLEW IN SING'S MURDER

White Widow of Chinese Merchant Motive for Deed Is Claim

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—A love letter written to the white wife of Charles Sing, the wealthy Chinese merchant killed in his home last Tuesday night, was found in the residence last night. [illegible] Chinese restaurant owner, and begged her to flee with him to China. The letter is the first tangible clew to the murder.

The day following the crime Der Norn turned his establishment over to a friend and has not since been seen. In his apartment detectives found photographs of the dead merchant torn to shreds and on the margins of the cardboard which had borne the pictures were crimson stains.

The searchers also found postal card photographs of about 50 white girls and on most of them were appeals for money. Stubs of money orders were scattered about the room. There also was a letter from Emma Davis, sister of Mrs. Sing.

"It is the old story of the lure of the Orient for the white girl, and the 'seeing red' on the Chinaman," asserted Police Captain Baer.

It is stated that the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen have joined in a request that the heads of the railroad systems meet their representatives in a conference in Chicago the latter part of this month or early in October.

Motorcyclist Who Ran Down Hearse Wanted by Police

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 6.—O. W. Johnston of San Gabriel was sought by the police today on a charge of reckless driving as the result of a [illegible] Johnson's motorcycle wrecked a hearse conveying a body to one of the cemeteries.

Johnston's cycle, traveling at the rate of forty miles an hour, struck the funeral car, shattering its glass sides and dislodging the casket. Pallbearers jumped from their conveyance and reached the hearse just in time to prevent the casket falling to the pavement. Johnston was only slightly bruised.

WESTERN FUEL IS FINED $2000

Attorney Knight Confers With Officials of Concern

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—Attorney Samuel Knight held a conference this morning with the officials of the Western Fuel Company regarding the fine of $2000 imposed upon the corporation yesterday by United States Judge Dooling and the holding of Secretary David C. Norcross in contempt. Knight stated that it had not yet been decided what steps would be taken to avoid the enforcement of the conditions of the contempt mandate prescribed by the court.

Yesterday Judge Dooling ordered Norcross sent to the Alameda county jail until he obeyed the government's subpena to bring all of the books and papers of the Western Fuel Company before the jury. He has been granted a stay of execution until noon Monday. If at that time the documents have not been taken to the grand jury rooms Norcross will have to go to jail. This fact was made very plain by the court in his ruling and it is to determine whether any legal steps can be taken in the matter that Knight and his associates are consulting.

An appeal to the Circuit Court will undoubtedly be made, it being claimed that the subpena was not specific in that it did not acquaint Norcross with the proceedings the grand jury contemplated.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

The fast Alameda team will play the United States Laundry nine tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at Lincoln park. The local fans are promised a treat, as the visiting team has the reputation of being speedy. This game means much to Alameda, because if victory again perches on the home roost, it will be the fifth time in as many Sundays.

Moffitt, the Alameda pitcher, has been playing bang-up ball and thus far has captured the Angoras of most of those who have faced him. Moffitt is a heady player, besides having the curves. He has a deceptive drop which is hard to connect with.

The Alamedas will put their best team in the field, Manager Risley realizing that the Alameda fans want the best there is. The line-up:

Moffitt, pitcher; Malliott, catcher; Werner, first base; Stone, second base; Risley, third base; French, shortstop; Pollard, left field; Mackle, centerfield; Bolt, right eld, Peterson, extra.

The hard hitting Berkeley Moose will play the crack Fort McDowell team Sunday. Fenton, the speed ball artist, is pitching unbeatable ball and with the assistance of players like Hoffman, Steinbeck, King, Eustice, Boyce and Scott ought to hold their own.

Louis Watts, wing of the University of California rugby football team last season, and member of the All-American team which toured Australia and New Zealand, his been secured by St. Mary's college to assist Otto Rittler, present coach, to handle the football material of the institution this season. This will mean an important addition to the St. Mary's squad and also strengthens the report of the patching up of differences between St. Mary's and Santa Clara University. Watts graduated from the University of California last year. He is well qualified to handle the position and with Rittler who is without a question one of the best coaches in the west, St. Mary's bids fair to shine on all athletic fields this year. Watts will begin his new duties on Wednesday. The collegians will play their first rugby game of the season September 20 when they meet Alameda high school.

ENTRIES IN BIG RACE WILL CLOSE THIS EVENING

'Merritt Marathon' on Admission Day Will Mark Athletic Epoch

Entries in the OAKLAND TRIBUNE'S First Annual "Merritt Marathon" close this evening, and the complete list of runners will be published in tomorrow morning's edition.

The struggle promises to be epochal, for the entry list will break all records for a single race in the history of the bay section. Never before has there been as representative a gathering of trained athletes to compete in a modified Marathon, and the runners will race before the largest audience ever assembled on the shores of Lake Merritt.

Many athletes representing towns outside of Alameda county, will arrive here tonight and tomorrow in order to go over the course and accustom themselves to the distance.

The management of the Piedmont Swimming Baths has arranged that the Hammam bath section, ensuring privacy, will be turned over for the exclusive use of the runners on that day. This means that the conveniences in the way of rubbing tables, etc., will be available for trainers and their charges.

The Piedmont Swimming Baths are the finest on this side of the bay and offer every pleasure and convenience to bathers and swimmers. Those who contemplate enjoying a plunge after they have cooled off sufficiently, should bring their own bathing suits. If this is done there will be no charge for the use of the tanks.

The TRIBUNE again serves notice upon all entrants that they must either present certificates from their own physicians or submit to physical examination by physicians designated by the TRIBUNE. All organizations who have entered teams should have their own physician make out a certificate of the physical condition of the runners. The Oakland Y. M. C. A. and St. Mary's college will have physicians in attendance at 7:30 Monday evening. At the same hour Monday evening, physicians will be at the editorial rooms of the OAKLAND TRIBUNE, Eighth and Broadway, where all unattached entrants should report for examination.

MALE GOLFERS CAN GET POINTERS FROM WOMEN

When we see a full grown man get up on a tee and ignominiously roll the ball along for say 50 yards after an effort that should have sent it sailing for 200 yards we are brought to a realization that golf is not necessarily a test of strength. Perhaps the next couple from the tee are a pair of expert women players, neither of them standing over five feet four inches, or weighing over 130 pounds. Both neatly tee the ball and without any apparent effort drive it straight down the midde for say 170 yards.

Miss Lillian Hyde of the South Shore Field Club, who has played an important part in women's golf tournaments for a year or two, is a longer driver than any except the longest driving men experts. At Pinehurst last winter, where I saw her easily dispose of Mrs. Hurd (formerly Miss Dorothy Campbell), it was generally remarked about the clubhouse that there were not four amateurs among the 200 then there who could out-drive the Long Island girl.

Mrs. Hurd, with a record of British, Canadian, and American championships to her credit representing the safe, machine-like, consistent game of unusually high standard for the strength and powers of a woman, was hopelessly out of it when at the longish holes after the turn Miss Hyde got home in two each time for a four.

On the tenth, a matter of about 375 yards up hill, Mrs. Hurd had to play short on her second to avoid a trap short of the green, while Miss Hyde was nicely on with a drive and a mashie. On the eleventh, about 140 yards, Mrs. Hurd required three to the green to two for Miss Hyde (I think a drive and an iron). And so it went until Miss Hyde won the United North and South championship from her famous opponent, whose name is known where golf is played.

Miss Hyde is rather tall and very lithe. She gets her wrists and whole body accurately into her stroke in a way that is a joy to see. The ball goes off with a certainty and snap of the true professional's stroke. Until rather recently Miss Hyde's weakness was her putting and short game. Owing to the strokes that she lost near and on the green the safe and sure players beat her. In the women's championship at Baltusrol Miss Hyde played her full shots up to man's standard, only to be beaten through the superior accuracy of those unable to approach the distance she got.

Miss Hyde told me that she preferred the sand greens of the south. She said that when she got on turf greens she could not judge distances or forces necessary to get down in the usual two puts. She said that she had devoted much time to practice at putting, and sincerely hoped to improve. When she masters grass greens there is no woman player I have ever seen and few men players who will beat her.

While on the subject of remarkable play by women as an object lesson for men I have in mind another woman who drives for well up to 200 yards and frequently well above, and yet who through weakness at the short game and putting never makes as creditable a score as her game entitles her to. She is rather short and very active, and the way she applies her strength accurately into and through the ball is a treat to those interested in clean hitting.

A few days ago in playing a 365-yard hole this girl drove for upward of 240 yards and hopelessly flubbed her second into the cop-bunker between her and the green, remarking "This hole is always my hoodoo." One of these days she will work out a reliable short game which, when hooked to her wonderful long game, will make her a factor in women's golf. STRAIGHT DRIVE.

Ritchie Denies Trying To Avoid 'Harlem Tommy'

SEATTLE, Sept. 6.—"I am sidestepping nobody," declares Willie Ritchie, lightweight champion, in a letter to a local newspaper published today. "I want the public to understand that I am a fighter, not a seeker after theatrical dates."

Ritchie will meet Freddie Welsh, British champion in a 20-round fight in Vancouver Sept. 20. Outlining his plans after that bout he says:

"I am now negotiating for a battle with Packey McFarland right after the Welsh affair. Next comes Leach Cross. Next "Harlem" Tommy Murphy. I am as anxious to meet him as I am to meet the others."

Ritchie says he will meet McFarland at 135 pounds ringside—"a weight he says he can make."

"Before I finish," the letter concludes, "I am going to clean out the whole lightweight division or lose my title in the attempt."

SPORTLETS

The announcement made yesterday that the Wheelmen club had reorganized and was ready to receive members without initiation fee caused quite a stir in town. There are over 100 well-known business and professional men on the roster now and when the club formally opens in October it is expected that there will be three hundred members. Bob Shand, secretary of the club, will open his office at the Piedmont Pavilion next Monday and will be in attendance daily. The new club will be known as the Wheelmen Athletic Club, Inc., and will have no connection with the Oakland Wheelmen club which is a professional organization. The Wheelmen Athletic Club, Inc., will be a strictly amateur organization and will become affiliated with the P. A. A.

Atlanta's victory over Mobile by a score of 6 to 5 in a ten-inning contest yesterday afternoon, leaves those two teams tied for first place in the struggle for the Southern Association pennant. Each club has won 80 games and lost 56. Atlanta has one more game to play and Mobile two.

Northwestern fans are boasting over the prowess of Cupid Swain who has broken the Coast League record for home runs held by Ping Bodie. We wish to remark that had Bodie been batting on the Seattle and Victoria grounds, there would have been a world's record established that Cupid Swain wouldn't touch ... in Mexico.

Why Doesn't Rivers Meet Azevedo

There seems but one explanation for Joe Rivers' demand for $3000 as his end of a ten-round bout with the new fistic star, Joe Azevedo. The explanation is that he doesn't want the match. Rivers knows that the Oakland Wheelmen's Club could not possibly guarantee such a sum as his end alone. Why doesn't this shrewd little Mexican accept a chance to redeem himself before the sporting public of Northern California? Why doesn't Rivers grab at the chance to make some money here, since the game is practically dead where he is? There seems but one one answer. Rivers is afraid to take a chance on getting what Ad Wolgast got, and following the latter down the ladder of oblivion.

HARLEM TOMMY MAY SHOW AGAINST AZEVEDO IN OCTOBER

The Crack Middleweight Card Is Called Off When Clabby Complains.

By THE TIMEKEPPER.

IF the plans of Jimmy Rohan do not miscarry Harlem Tommy Murphy will oppose Joe Azevedo at the Wheelmen Club in October. Rohan is in telegraphic communication with Jim Buckley, Murphy's manager, and indications point to the match being consummated. The way Rohan has the matter figured is that only Murphy stands between Azevedo and Champion Willie Ritchie. Leach Cross, Joe Rivers and Ad Wolgast, who were contenders a few weeks ago, have been eased into the discard through defeats. Azevedo is coming, while Murphy will never be better than he was in his two fights with Wolgast. This line of reasoning seems logical and a Murphy - Azevedo match would surely be an appetizing dish for the local boxing fans. Young Azevedo will open at a local vaudeville house Sunday and will also appear at a Sacramento theater next week. However, Joe would rather box than perform on the stage, and should Murphy accept terms he will leave the footlights for the ring.

There will be no contest between Jimmy Clabby and Frank Logan at the West Oakland club this month. Clabby claims he hurt his shoulder in the Grande match at Sacramento and will be unable to box for at least a month. Jimmy, however, failed to notify the local club's officials, with the result that the matchmaker was ready to go to print with his advertising matter. Manager Tommy Simpson was notified by Bob Shand yesterday afternoon that Clabby would be unable to appear and Simpson met Clabby at the four-round scraps last night and received word that Jimmy positively would not start this month. With Clabby out of the running Bob Shand immediately got to work in the interests of Otto Berg and a Berg-Logan match looks like the West end club's card for the 17th of this month. Simpson will get in communication with Sharkey, Logan's manager this morning and if Sharkey does not consider Berg too tough a box for his hothouse plant to meet, the match will be made. Otto gave Logan a hard scrap over the four-round route a couple of weeks ago. The bout was called a draw but Berg had a shade the better of the milling. A Berg-Logan match would be a stellar attraction and the West Oakland club could go a long way and fail to find a card that would be so attractive.

Willie Meehan did not like the showing he made against Roy Kenny last night even though he got the decision and told the writer that he would never don the gloves again. "I'm one guy that ... " chirped Willie, "and I will fool the wise guy by not trying to come back." However, when chubby Willie's bank roll becomes flattened he will be heard again challenging all the fighters in the country. Meehan grabbed a large peeve last evening when the announcer dubbed him the "coming heavyweight champion of the world." Willie declares he can still make 160 pounds but his roly-poly appearance does not bear out this statement.

Earl Stanley, who has met with considerable success training boxers here and in San Francisco, has gone to Salt Lake City where the boxing game is in a flourishing condition.

Betting on the McAllister-Petroskey match will probably start this afternoon for this is pay day at Yerba Buena, and the tars will come to town prepared to lay the bank roll on the chances of the hard hitting sailor to win from the pride of the Olympic club next Tuesday afternoon.

McAllister is a 10-7 favorite, and these are the odds that will probably prevail right up to the afternoon of the encounter.

The sailors are going down on Petroskey, line, hook and sinker. They feel sure that he will win with a poppy punch, since he has found out that McAllister can not hurt him.

Louis Parente is wagering $1500 on the sailor's chances and many other sporting authorities are taking the short end.

Joe Rivers will not be among us in the near future. The Mexican lad who quit cold to Ritchie demanded $3000 guarantee to box Azevedo at the Wheelmen club. Adieu, Joe Rivers.

The San Francisco Driving Club will present a card of six harness races at the stadium track on Sunday, starting at 12:30 o'clock. Trophies have been donated by A. Ottinger, J. J. Ryan and W. J. Kenney, and as the fields in the various races appear to be well balanced, some good racing should be witnessed.

ILLNESS BAFFLES CITY PHYSICIANS

"Sleeping Sickness" Victim Nearly Starves as Result of Malady.

SEATTLE, Sept. 6.—Victim of a strange malady, which has baffled 15 doctors, Heros Von Borcke, scion of a wealthy family of the German nobility, walked into the Detention hospital yesterday afternoon in a starved condition. Occasionally he will fall into a faint in the street and will sleep for two or three hours and maybe two or three days.

Von Borcke has been afflicted with this strange malady since November of last year and attributes it to bullet wounds he received while in the service of the United States government in the Philippines as a civil engineer. As a result of the disease he is now destitute. He was starving when he walked into the Detention hospital yesterday. He had a ring of gold bearing a coat of arms of the Hohenzollern family, which he would not pawn, and he would rather die than beg.

That Von Borcke was an expert civil engineer is vouched for by C. J. Simpson, steward at the Detention hospital, who knew him when he was a wealthy man in the Philippines. He was educated in the Heidelberg University in Germany and served three years as a second lieutenant in the German army. His father was General Von Borcke and served under Emperor Frederick Wilhelm II and under the present emperor. His uncle, bearing the same name as himself, Heros Von Borcke, served as an officer in the Civil war under General Stewart, and was decorated by Congress for bravery.

Until a week ago Von Borcke was working as a foreman in the Portland cement factory, but was discharged because he fell in a faint one day while at work and slept for four hours. The superintendent was afraid that some day he would be attacked with another spell and fall into the cement-crushing machinery.

MAIL CARRIERS END CONVENTION

Delegates Start for Homes After Resolutions Are Passed.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 6.—The convention of the National Letter Carriers' Association ended yesterday afternoon. Several resolutions for the benefit of the membership at large were passed. Most of the delegates left last night for the east via Los Angeles.

No member of the association who severs his connection with the organization through promotion or other channels will be eligible to vote on any question unless by unanimous vote of the assemblage. This amendment was adopted with scarcely a dissenting vote.

Overtime for substitute carriers at 40 cents an hour is asked and a congressional bill was indorsed asking that substitute carriers, after two years' service, be placed in a regular job.

Postmaster Arthur Fisk addressed the afternoon session and outlined the system he devised for carrying out the provisions of the eight-hour law.

Two hundred and fifty delegates were guests of the Oakland branch on an automobile trip.

A diamond breastpin was presented to Mrs. Thomas L. Reilly, wife of Congressman Reilly of Connecticut, known as the father of the eight-hour bill.

One of the last acts of the convention was to vote $300 apiece for the four bands that attended from Cleveland, Omaha, Portland and Dallas.

NEW HAVEN STOCK TAKES A SLUMP

Withdrawal of J. P. Morgan Co. as Financial Agents Is Cause.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Stock of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad slumped nearly two points, coming within a fraction of the lowest price in the history of the company, at the opening of the Stock Exchange today. Withdrawal of J. P. Morgan & Co., as financial agents for the road, which became known after the market closed yesterday, led to active trading in the stock as soon as the exchange opened. The first transaction was at 90⅛, a decline of a point. At 9:30 the stock met with support and the price was pushed up quickly to 91.

The market closed strong. Trading during the day's half session was dull and in many active stocks there were no transactions. A contributory cause of the dullness was the holiday — the London exchange, which eliminated foreign market effect of the latest developments in New Haven affairs lent considerable interest to the opening. The weakness of New Haven threatened for a time to undermine the cheerfulness which surrounded yesterday's operations. Monday's report on the copper industry is expected to reveal an unusually large reduction in supplies, which has been foreshadowed by the advance in the metal both here and abroad to a 1½-cent basis.

Gains of 2 to 4 points were scored by various specialties today, but improvement of the standard railroad stocks averaged about half a point.

Bonds were steady.

GIVEN WEEK TO GET POSITION

Lewis C. Hinckel Also May Be Cut Off From Father's Estate.

Lewis C. Hinckel, who was recently sued by Florence Gifford Hinckel for a divorce, was given a week in which to find a job so that he could pay his wife alimony when the case came up before Superior Judge Brown late yesterday. John Hinckel, the wealthy Berkeley landowner, testified that he had supported his son and daughter-in-law for the last seven years and that he was tired of it. He intimated that he would cut his son off from his estate and said that from now on [illegible] own living.

Mrs. Hinckel testified that after she had filed suit for divorce her husband had offered to settle with her for $2500. She refused and he lowered the amount to $1000, she said, and later he borrowed $2 from her and only paid back $1. She asked for $100 per month alimony, but said that under the circumstances she was willing to take $65. In addition, she is likely to be forced out of the home she occupied with her husband, as it is owned by the elder Hinckel.

Mrs. Hinckel was mentioned in the cross-complaint for divorce filed by Mrs. Mary Clayton Crowson against Edward A. Crowson recently. The homes of the two couples adjoined in the rear in North Oakland, one facing on Shafter avenue and the other on Keith avenue.

STOCKS RECOVER FROM DEPRESSION

Downward Tendency Halted After Several Days of Inaction.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—Until the latter part of the week the stock market declined steadily. A variety of adverse influences combined to depress the market, and worked to the advantages of bear traders, who met with little opposition until expansion of the short interest led to a strong upturn yesterday.

Railroad stocks were relatively heavier than industrials, owing to the poor showing made in the July statements of many of the large systems. Grain and cotton carrying roads also were affected by crops from drought. New Haven was under particularly heavy pressure following the Wallingford wreck, and the coalers were depressed by the government's suit against Reading under the anti-trust law. The outflow of money to the interior, for crop movements, and the consequent stiffening of both time and call money, also operated against the stock market.

The success of the Union Pacific offering of its holdings of Southern Pacific was a material influence in strengthening the market when the turn came late in the week. Copper shares were benefited by the advance in the prices of copper metal.

San Francisco Markets

REPORTS FORM NEAR-BY MARKETS.

PETALUMA, Sept. 5.—There was an increase of 1c in the price of extra ranchh eggs today upon receipt of the morning advices from the San Francisco Dairy Exchange and the dealers offered the ranchers 38c. The quoted price in the bay city is 1c higher. The Petaluma Federation has advertised for bids in many coast cities for eggs for the storage season. The deliveries today were rather heavy, but it was quiet on the market. There was no poultry delivery. The price for select pullet eggs held firm at 28½c. Fair delivery. It is at present the plan of the local federation to ship eggs in one dozen cartons and have them labeled with the date on which the eggs were laid.

STOCKTON, Sept. 5.—There was an advance of one cent in the price of ranch eggs today on the local produce exchange, all offerings being bought in at 35c per dozen for firsts, 34c for second and 26c for pullets. The demand continued heavy and the market was decidedly unstable. Despite heavy week-end accumulations, another advance is probable, declare the dealers. Ranch butter remained firm, large quantities being marketed at 50@ [illegible] mand for graded poultry and receipts were large.

SANTA ROSA, Sept. 5.—Butter and eggs took another advance on the Dairy Produce market here today and added materially to the pleasure of the poultrymen and dairymen. The increased prices justify the predictions of the poultrymen that higher prices were imminent. Following receipt of advices from the San Francisco Dairy Produce Exchange, dealers here posted quotations offering 37½c per dozen for first grade eggs. 28c per dozen for seconds or pullet grade eggs and 50c per pound for butter. Receipts are about normal.

SLUMP IN NEW HAVEN STOCKS

Decline Follows Withdrawal of J. P. Morgan Co. as Fiscal Agents.

NEW YORK, Sept. 6.—The only important move in stocks today was a slump in New Haven following the withdrawal of J. P. Morgan & Co. as fiscal agents of the road. New Haven opened a point off at 90⅛, and declined to 90, but soon rallied to 90⅞. Changes in the rest of the market were unusually small and revealed no trend in either direction. Reading and Copper opened slightly higher. Union Pacific was unchanged and Steel was off ⅛.

All of the grain and more was afterwards lost. Milling and shipping demand was said to be slow. The close was weak at a decline of ⅛c to ⅜c net.

Close: Corn—No. 2, 77¼@78¼c; No. 2 white, 77¾@78¼c; No. 2 yellow, 77¾@78¼c; No. 3, 77¼@78c, No. 3 white, 77½@75c, No. 3 yellow, 77¼@75¼c.

A burst of heavy selling later brought about a sudden reaction. Increased arrivals here and possibility of rain before Monday were responsible. The close was nervous, ¼c to ½c under last night.

FROSTS HELP TO BOOST MARKETS

Wheat Upturn Due to the Cold Weather in Canada and Minnesota.

CHICAGO, Sept. 6.—Frost in Canada and rain in Minnesota and North Dakota helped give the wheat market today an upturn after an early dip. First prices ranged from ⅛@¼c off to a shade advance, with the rally extending to ¼@⅜c to ¼@⅜c above last night's level.

Dry, hot weather over the greater part of the belt put strength into corn. The market opened unchanged to ¼c higher and continued to advance.

Oats rose with corn and demand was of a miscellaneous sort but on a liberal scale.

Provisions hardened on account of an advance at the yards and because of the action of coarse grain, but trade was rather light.

Verily in these latter days is there no school of art named "Minding One's Business?" The cast includes Charles Mailes, Mae Marsh, Robert Harron.

BEST THEATER.
San Leandro, Cal.

"A Gamble with Death," Biograph drama. The story of a peculiar bet and a woman's sympathy. The cast includes Harry Carey, Claire McDowell and Walter Miller.

So when the redskins [illegible] the trapper naturally thought she had run away with his best friend. How the three meet in the thick of a fight with the Indians, how the two men confront each other and the woman explains—that's the skelton of this crackerjack frontier photoplay by Pathe Freres.
Pathe Weekly, No. 26. The review of [illegible]
"Roughing the Cub," Vitagraph comedy. The boys hand him a tough deal. He beats them to it and lands a great story. It makes a hit and so does he. Featuring Hughey Mack and Teft Johnson.
"Faust and the Lily," Biograph Burlesque comedy.
"The Old Maid's Deception," Biograph comedy.
Monday and Tuesday: "The Tiger Lily," big Vitagraph three-reel special. One of the greatest pictures released this [illegible] peerless role, entrusting her life with a ferocious tiger. One other good comedy reel.

Actress Also Is Fire Chief

Stella Mayhew Coming Here

MISS STELLA MAYHEW, CLEVER COMEDIENNE, WHO WILL BE SEEN AT ORPHEUM THEATER NEXT WEEK.

When jolly Stella Mayhew takes the stage, everybody knows it is to laugh, for Miss Mayhew is one of those bubbling springs of merriment, very much like May Irwin—a large lady, with a vast smile, a keen wit and a knowledge of how to tickle the public funny bone in a thoroughly scientific way.

They are getting ready for the big fun festival at the Orpheum next Sunday when Stella is to take the stage with Billie Taylor.

Nobody sings syncopated melody just like Stella Mayhew. She can get more out of a coon song than anybody on the stage.

In New York they keep her at the Wintergarden six months out of the year and after that long stay they hate to see her go away for even a few weeks.

Naturally, Miss Mayhew is able to collect salary just a little bit bigger than the President's, just because she is in demand, and also because there is only one of her.

Miss Mayhew has other laurels on her copious brow besides those she has won by her ability as an actress. She is used to applause from kings and praise from dignitaries of every kind, but she now enjoys the distriction that is quite unique—a distinction she values above all others, because she is the only woman in the world to have been thus honored.

This is nothing less notable than the appointment of Fire Chief of the New Rochelle, New York Fire Department.

Miss Mayhew is the third Assistant Deputy Chief and has a solid gold chief's badge with that inscription on it to prove it.

How can Miss Mayhew leave New Rochelle to amuse that large and loyal following who do her homage?

How can the 28,000 citizens of New Rochelle sleep in peace and confidence with their gallant fire chief away? How can the other fire laddies properly cope with the threatening blaze without their commander?

Sans the gallant heart and hands of the world's only appointed woman fire fighter—how can the town George M. Cohan made famous in his "Forty-five Minutes From Broadway" continue its reposeful existence?

Why—simply because Miss Mayhew's appointment is honorary.

Recently in gratitude of a fund the comedienne raised for the Paid Firemen Pension Association—the New Rochelle Fire Department unanimously elected her chief so that while Miss Mayhew enjoys all the privileges of the regular firemen, she is not expected to answer midnight alarms—or gracefully descend greased poles, climb to her position on the engine just as it is making a wild rush through the doors of the fire house.
